Senate Committee Approves Tax, Postage Bill

AMENDMENTS TO INCREASE RATES LOSE

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—The senate finance committee today reported favorably the bill to extend income taxes and the three cent postage rate. The committee amended the bill to limit the extension to one year instead of two as contained in the house measure.

The amendment to limit extension to one year was proposed by Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, R., Mich.

"Nuisance" taxes—Those on amusements, luxuries, sporting goods and the like—account for an annual income to the federal treasury of $650,000,000, the house committee reported.

No other amendments were adopted.

With strong Republican support, however, amendments proposed by Sen. Robert M. La Follette, R., Wis., to broaden the tax base by reducing income taxes exemptions and increasing the tax rate were defeated by a tie vote, 7 to 7.

The committee reported favorably a measure by Sen. Augustine Lonergan, D., Conn., to repeal the provisions on the income tax law requiring publication of the names of all persons receiving a salary of $15,000 or more.

POLICE SEEK TRACE OF MISSING WOMAN

Apprehensively, police searched every possible hiding place on and near the Parsons estate at Stony Brook, L. I., where Mrs. Alice Parsons might have been concealed by kidnapers. At left, Frank McDonnell, brother of the missing society matron, who aided in the search, and right, state troopers examining an abandoned well for trace of Mrs. Parsons.

FLOOD BILL IS EXPLAINED BY SHEPPARD

No federal funds have been earmarked for the Orange county flood control project, from the $194,000,000 rivers and harbors bill reported favorably by a house committee in congress last week.

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard, who introduced the bill, today explained the project to the Orange county project will be financed from a different source, and that no definite allocation has been made to the local project.

No Earmarked Fund

Congressman Sheppard informed The Register that "The War Department appropriations for civil functions carries a blanket appropriation of $30,000,000," and stated that there is "no earmarked fund for Orange county."

Funds for completion of surveys by army engineers and for the start of construction will come from the $30,000,000 blanket appropriation, the congressman said.

Sheppard's announcement corroborated a previous statement by Chairman Willard Smith of the county supervisors commenting up on the fact that the Orange county project was not listed among the projects mentioned in the $194,000,000 rivers and harbors bill.

Smith said he understood from army engineers that the government's policy is to make a blanket appropriation for the army engineers, who allocate that fund as they see fit, applying it to projects that have qualified for it.

Congressman Sheppard's message to The Register today was as follows:

"The War department appropriations for civil functions, known as H. R. 7493, carries a blanket appropriation of $30,000,000. Certain WPA funds will also be shifted to the flood control fund, to augment."

There is no earmarked fund for Orange county. The Orange county project is already authorized and funds for completion of surveys and start of construction will come from the $30,000,000 blanket appropriation."

Martial Law Declared In Basque City

BULLETIN

SALAMANCA, Spain, June 15.—(UP)—Rebel planes dropped proclamations over the Guadarrama front north of Madrid today announcing that the national army has been accumulating troops on the Madrid front and is about to deliver a final assault.

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, June 15.—(UP)—The Basque government has declared martial law in Bilbao, Basque delegates on the frontier announced today.

The army alone will insure public order under the proclamation. The move was believed partly designed to prevent dynamiting of buildings by the allied Asturian miners if evacuation of the ancient and beautiful city is forced.

London Cable Broken

British cable officials at the frontier announced that the Bilbao-London cable had ceased to function during the afternoon.

Nationalist sources announced that they estimated government losses in the last 48 hours at 2000 dead and 6000 prisoners. Basque prisoners said they had been ordered to fight delaying tactics to permit the retreat of the main Basque army towards Santander.

Nationalist planes attacked the Basque formations on the roads, killing many.

Prisoners said thousands of Basques continued to fight in the mountains and in the "El Gallo" fortifications east of Bilbao, where they were cut off and had not received the retreat order.

Three Sided Attack

Obedient orders of Gen. Francisco Franco not to enter Bilbao had been mopped up the Basque wings, Gen. Jose F. Del Valle, commanding the nationalists, began a three sided attack on the strongest Basque position at Galdakano, southeast of the capital, after violent artillery preparations.

The first column, attacking from Larrazbuzua, succeeded in moving a column of tanks through the valley. The second attacked along the main Durango road from Lemona and rapidly overcame resistance. A

Who's "Boss," Roosevelt Or Lewis?

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R., Mich., today said on the house floor that Committee For Industrial Organization strikes the question of whether President Roosevelt or John L. Lewis is "the boss."

Hoffman, a bitter critic of administration labor policies and the CIO, threatened yesterday to lead a "well armed" and "reliable" band of citizenry to the relief of Monroe, Mich., if CIO workers invade it.

Is President Roosevelt or Lewis the boss? Hoffman demanded. "Who does give the orders? Where do they originate?"

Hoffman brought his earlier demands for equal responsibility for labor under contracts with employers to the floor in a bitter attack on the CIO.

FILE ACTION ON SUPPLIES FOR CREWS

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—The Republic Steel corporation today filed suit in the United States district court for the District of Columbia asking a writ of mandamus directing Postmaster General James A. Farley to order delivery of food and supplies mailed to workers in the corporation's struck plants.

To Appear June 22

The court directed Farley to appear on June 22 to show cause why the mandamus writ should not be enforced.

The court's show cause order was signed by Justice James M. Proctor.

The suit was filed by John S. Brooks Jr., counsel for the corporation. Republic is one of the four steel firms involved in the strike called by the Committee For Industrial Organization.

The petition requested the court to order Farley to withdraw "unofficial promulgations" with respect to "irregular mail" and direct the postmasters of Warren and Niles, O., to receive and deliver all parcel post packages addressed to Republic plants in those cities.

Plan Separate Actions

In addition, the corporation announced it would institute "separate actions" against local postmasters "in a court having jurisdiction to entertain them."

The Republic Action was instituted as debate broke out in the capital over the position of the steel companies in declining to sign collective bargaining contracts with the CIO. Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y., author of the National Labor Relations Act, contended that they were an implicit corollary to bargaining in good faith. Brookes contended the act did not require signed contracts. His position was supported by Rep. Clare Hoffman, R., Mich., a bitter critic of administration labor policies.

20 MEN HURT IN MILL RIOTS

AMBRIDGE, Pa., June 15.—(UP)—Twenty men were injured in rioting between unions today when the National Electric products company tried to re-open its strike-bound plant here.

Extra police on duty discharged tear gas bombs before order was restored.

The company had ordered its 1,850 employees to report for work today after the National Labor Relations board upheld a wage scale contract recently signed with the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, an American Federation of labor affiliate.

The United Electric & Radio Workers of America, affiliated with the committee for industrial organization, had brought charges of violation of the Wagner act against the company, and called a strike in the plant two weeks ago.

Fifty workers, said to be members of the A. F. of L. union, marched up Duss avenue, chanting: "We're going back to work; We're going back to work."

Five hundred pickets and a mob of 5,000 sympathizers angrily shouted the chanting men. As the group neared the plant, someone shouted: "Don't let them go through."

The pickets charged. The workers were clubbed with broom handles, sticks and fists.

Acting Police Chief Richard O'Neill led his men in discharging the gas. The crowd at first gave way slowly, then broke into headlong flight as the gas took effect. Women held their skirts over their faces.

ROOSEVELT TO SHIFT PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today announced that he plans to shift the program and direction of his New Deal in an effort to lift the proportion of the nation's income going to that one-third of the population which he classifies as "ill-nourished, ill-clad and ill-housed."

The principles of the new program—which he said is necessary to the nation's prosperity—will be explained either in a radio "fireside chat" or a newspaper press conference sometime this summer.

What the government will try to do, he said, is to build up the national wealth by increasing the share of the nation's income going to the sub-standard one-third.

Mr. Roosevelt referred to changes he has in mind as amending present New Deal principles.

For example, he said, the administration's recently introduced minimum wage, maximum hour and child labor legislation are part of the plan to place a larger share of the national wealth in the hands of the under-privileged one-third.

Another specific example cited by the President as revealing his aims was the present $10 a month given dependent children by the government through the social security program.

A part of the share-the-wealth plan, the President said, might be to increase the amount of these benefits.

BLUM ACTS TO PROTECT FRANC

BULLETIN

PARIS, June 15.—(UP)—Communists in the chamber of deputies tonight threatened to overthrow the government of Premier Leon Blum by abstaining from voting in a confidence test anticipated later tonight.

PARIS, June 15.—(UP)—Premier Leon Blum decided today to risk the life of his government on measures involving higher taxes, new borrowing and means to protect the franc.

Blum will ask parliament for broad powers to replenish an 18,000,000,000 franc ($802,000,000) treasury deficit. The plans of his government in this regard have not yet been revealed. They were accepted unanimously by the cabinet yesterday and will be discussed by the chamber of deputies finance commission this evening when they probably will get to debate so that passage can be assured tomorrow.

There is strong opposition to the plan so that the danger of a government upset exists.

Vincent Auriol, finance minister, at a press conference today explained the government's plans without divulging details of the project. He said the government had two jobs to perform, namely, to restore order in the financial chaos, and secondly to break speculation in the French franc.

Auriol denied reports the government intended to put special taxes on gasoline and sugar, but indicated the short-term market was being studied.

NEW CAFETERIA POLICY VOTED BY S. A. BOARD OF EDUCATION

Changes in management and policy at the three school cafeterias were approved by the board of education last night, as a move to improve the quality of food and service in the cafeterias. As a result of this plan, the board abolished the post of cafeteria manager, held the last three years by Rose Ethel Lesh.

Three school principals will host the three cafeterias henceforth. It was virtually decided, although a committee of five was named to formulate a program for the cafeterias.

The three principals, Lynn H. Crawford, of the high school; Lyle Mitchell, of Willard Junior high; and H. G. Nelson, of Lathrop Junior high, are included on this committee with School Auditor Harold Yost and Dr. Margaret Baker, member of the board. The cafeterias are located at the senior and two junior high schools.

Drastic changes in cafeteria personnel were indicated at last night's discussion.

ACCUSE ATTORNEY OF BAIL BROKER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—(UP)—The grand jury, investigating alleged police graft, was recessed until tomorrow following testimony early today in which Byron Parker, attorney for Peter McDonough, bail broker, was charged with having arranged with a fan, arrested on a morals charge, to pay McDonough his $1000 bail and flee.

This testimony was based on the transcript of conversations allegedly obtained by tapping telephone wires into McDonough's office.

McDonough, who spent four days in the county jail on a contempt citation when he refused to answer questions based on the tapped wire evidence, was summoned before the grand jury last night but was kept waiting in an ante room while his attorney was being questioned. After hours of waiting he was told to return tomorrow night.

ORDER CONSUL TO STOP FILM THREATS

HOLLYWOOD, June 15.—(UP)—The German consul in Los Angeles has been ordered by his government to desist from threats of a Nazi blacklist such as he sent to players in a recent Hollywood movie, "The Road Back," it was reported today.

The Hollywood Anti-Nazi league announced receipt from the United States state department of notification that the German government had acted in the case. The league, with the Screen Actors' guild, had protested the consul's warning.

George Gysling, the consul, sent the warnings to 20 featured players in the cast of the play. The movie is based on a novel by Erich Maria Remarque, exiled German war veteran, whose works have been banned in Germany. The novel presents the war's aftermath.

DRIVER BLAMED IN CAR DEATHS

Ernest Biggs, 32-year-old Orange county hospital orderly and ambulance driver, was blamed yesterday afternoon by a coroner's jury sitting at Brown and Wagner funeral chapel, for the accident last Thursday evening, which brought him and his companion, Ray Riley, 27, Santa Ana, also an orderly, fiery deaths.

"From the evidence," the jury, in charge of Coroner Earl Abbey and Deputy Coroner Bert Casella, reported, "we find the accident was caused by the apparent lack of regard, on the part of the driver of the ambulance, for the open road and the boulevard stop sign."

Testimony was offered to show that Driver Biggs, who had been sounding siren as he drove south along Verano road toward the boulevard stop sign at First street, failed to continue sounding it for some distance before entering the intersection. The speeding ambulance and a touring car operated by Charles C. Wilson, 24, 417 East Second, Santa Ana, who was traveling westerly on First, a thoroughfare, collided at the intersection in Orange county's most spectacular traffic crash.

Wilson escaped with minor head injuries. The ambulance careened into Roy Head's service station at the southwest corner, overturned, burned. The service station and the Head grocery store were burned to the ground as Head barely escaped with his life by dashing from the rear of the store. Both ambulance drivers were burned to death on the spot. Wilson's car also burned.

PLAN S. A. HIGH MILITARY BAND

Santa Ana high school will have a military band next term.

A baton-swinging drum major will cut dices and curlicues as he leads the band down the street to the strains of stirring martial music.

He will be Kenneth Heiges, who started out to be a doctor because his father was a doctor before him, but whose love for music drew him away from a premed course after two years at Stanford.

He graduated under a famous bandmaster at San Jose state in 1934 and has been an instructor at Fillmore High school since then. His love for music is again drawing him. It is taking him away from a $1990 yearly salary at Fillmore to accept a $1700 salary in Santa Ana, because he will have a broader field of work here.

The board of education elected him to the high school faculty last night, as a move to establish a military band in the school.

She admitted she had talked to Barrymore on Sunday night.

"But," she said, "he didn't say anything to me about it. It's news to me. I get along very well with the Barrymores—the ones I know at least."

DEMONSTRATION OF KELVINATOR STAGED

Turner's Santa Ana Kelvinator dealer, 221 West Fourth street, is sponsoring what is said to be one of the most remarkable mechanical demonstrations ever devised.

"The Kelvinator mechanical demonstration we are conducting this week probably has created more comment than anything ever attempted before," L. M. Turner said today.

"The amazing proof that Kelvinator can and does maintain correct temperature with twice the capacity in half the running time" has converted many users of old style refrigerators to this outstanding electric refrigerator. Persons who never before had used electric refrigerators are easily convinced through this demonstration that the Kelvinator way is the safest and most economical way to preserve food and ample ice for all home uses."

NO SMOKING!—BY ORDER OF THE C. I. O.

Silent and smokeless were the stacks rising from Cleveland's "steel valley" as idle men gazed down from a massive bridge nearby at the idle mills of the Corrugated-McKinney works of the Republic Steel Co. Men, stacks, and mills typified the situation of nearly 100,000 men in cities from Youngstown to Chicago, as the greatest steel strike since 1919 continued to darken more furnaces daily.

FIVE QUESTIONED IN PARSONS CASE

STONY BROOK, N. Y., June 15.—(UP)—Augmented by volunteers, federal state and local investigators today searched another section of the thickly wooded land surrounding the Long Island squash farm from which Mrs. William H. Parsons, society matron, disappeared six days ago.

The second day of the systematic search followed a busy night at county police headquarters where five persons were questioned under direction of Earl Connelly federal bureau of investigation inspector.

District Inspector Francis S. McGarvey of the state police also was called to the conferences.

The first to arrive was a young couple driving a car that was registered in the name of Evelyn J. McKenney, of Smithtown, N. Y., five miles from here.

Winfield, a Negro garbage collector, and two 18-year-old youths from Port Jefferson, Arnold Cox and Melvin Chadwick, were brought in later.

Mrs. Parsons' brother, H. W. McDonald, comptroller for the Columbia Pictures corporation in Hollywood, arrived by plane from California last night.

He said he wasn't "particularly worried" about his sister because "it looks like a very amateurish job."

DAVEY'S STRIKE PARLEY AT END

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—(UP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey's second joint steel strike parley ended today with the departure of company representatives who said "as far as we are concerned the conferences are over."

Davey proposed to attempt a third conference later, but barring unexpected and powerful intervention from some other quarter, it appeared the issue would be decided on the embattled picket lines.

J. C. Argetsinger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube company and J. A. Voss of Republic Steel, left Davey's conference after a four-hour session with the governor and union leaders headed by Chairman Philip Murray of the C.I.O. Steel Workers Organizing committee.

Development that threatened to push the conflict toward a show down included:

Dynamiting of a section of Pennsylvania Railroad track near the Niles and Warren, O., plants of the Republic Steel Corporation, which have been operating despite picket lines.

35 Cars Leave Plant

Shipment of 35 freight car loads of products out of the Warren plant despite strengthening of picket lines by arrival of coal miners and steel workers from Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Issuance by common pleas court at Warren of a restraining order against three railroads to enjoin them from running in additional trains to strikebound Republic plants and forbidding pickets to set foot on the railroad property during hearing on an alternative writ.

Issuance of a warrant at Youngstown for search of the Sheet & Tube company, plants for arms and ammunition which a strike leader charged in an affidavit that he saw in the plant.

Announcement at Monroe, Mich., that 25 local strikers would be permitted to picket Republic's Newton steel plant, scene of a vigilance tear gas attack that dispersed pickets last Thursday.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—Publicity of names of tax evaders may be restricted in connection with the congressional inquiry asked by President Roosevelt, it developed today.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton of the house ways and means committee, who may be chairman of the joint house and senate inquiry, said that the statement by Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. which will start off the inquiry will be examined by the joint committee before public hearings start.

SUPERVISOR TO GO TO CAPITAL ON DRAIN JOBS

Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, today was granted a 30-day leave by the county board, for a trip to Washington, with transportation and all expenses paid, to work for federal approval of four storm drain projects aggregating more than $500,000.

Supervisor West, who leaves tomorrow, will supplement the activities of Glenn Miller, employed by the county some time ago for the same purpose.

As PWA Jobs

West leaves for the East tomorrow, by automobile. He will drive to Boston, Massachusetts, first, picking up his nephew there and proceeding to Washington.

Three of the storm drain projects requested as PWA projects, aggregating $507,677 in proposed expenditures. The other is a WPA project for a $34,892 storm drain at El Modena.

Cancel Taxes

The supervisors today cancelled about $800 in delinquent taxes on a lot owned by the city of Fullerton. The city had acquired the lot in 1931, between the period of assessment and the date taxes became delinquent. The city was unaware that any taxes stood against the property until recently it received notices that the lot was about to be sold for unpaid taxes. Then it requested the county to cancel the tax.

Thomas Reappointed

Carl J. Thomas, superintendent of schools in Orange, today was reappointed by the board to the county board of education.

The board canvassed the recent vote cast in the Buena Park water district annexation election, and authorized purchase of a new car of the "pick-up" type for the county garage.

CHAMBER HEAD HITS WAGE BILL

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—George H. Davis, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, today opposed before the house and senate labor committees enactment of the administration's wage and hours bill.

Davis' views were challenged by Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' union, who urged that the measure be approved.

Davis took issue with claims that any emergency justifies the bill. Davis said the measure was "extraordinary in character" and could be justified only by an emergency.

"I know of no such emergency," he said. "I am not able to discover in our membership knowledge such an emergency, and I have not learned of any other source from which information can be obtained."

"A committee of the chamber, which for a good part of last year studied employment with the assistance of more than 200 member organizations, reached a conclusion early last winter that unemployment measured in any realistic sense was less than the figures given popular circulation, and that the time had come to concentrate on training men and women for employment so that they could advance beyond the class of common laborer."

MOULTON, Ala., June 15.—(UP)—Three persons were in serious condition in a hospital here today from pistol wounds suffered in the Youngstown church gun duel that resulted in the death of Deputy Sheriff Andrew Dutton, 45.

Bert Retherford, 30, who fired on Dutton when the latter entered the Owen's Chapel Baptist church to arrest him on a charge of disturbing worship, was reported in a critical condition. He was charged with murder.

Vigilant Eyes of the C. I. O.

Members of the C. I. O. "Flying Squad" on picket duty at the Struthers, O., plant of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., alertly watched—with field glasses and shaded eyes—the smokeless stacks of the plant as this picture was taken. These squads, with their signs, surrounded dozens of plants in the steel strike area, fighting to keep workers either out of the shops or in a state of foodless siege within.

Philadelphia Man Designer Of First Flag Of U. S., Claim

SAN DIEGO, June 15.—(UP)—Now that the legend of Betsy Ross has been retold in the hundreds of schoolroom flag day exercises another year, new records were brought out today to show that Miss Betsy Ross had nothing to do with the first American flag.

The new piece of historical information came from Capt. Byron authority on the history of the flag.

The first flag, he said, was designed by one Francis Hopkinson of Philadelphia, who later petitioned congress inquiring whether "a quarter of a cask of wine would not be a proper and reasonable reward" for his work.

Captain McCandless has a pile of photostatic documents and original papers written in the period from 1775 to 1777 about the flag. The records indicated that Margaret Manny, seamstress in a ship chandler's firm, sewed the first flag December 2, 1775, for the U. S. Navy. The banner had St. George's and St. Andrew's crosses blocked on a field of bars and was hoisted, December 3, 1775, by John Paul Jones aboard the Alfred, flagship of the fleet, according to the new evidence.

Captain McCandless said he spent 20 years in the research. He has a letter that designer Hopkinson sent to congress, describing his plans for the flag and his designs for a seal for the board of admiralty, predecessor to the navy department.

Also he has the following notation taken from a day book of a ship chandler's firm as of December 2, 1775:

"49 yards of broad bunting; 52½ yards narrow bunting; to make an ensign; canvas and thread" for the ship Alfred. The job cost approximately eight pounds.

It was on June 14, 1777, that Hopkinson replaced the British crosses with the 13 stars, Captain McCandless said, and this forerunner of the modern flag was first hoisted in a naval celebration July 4, 1777.

FARM CENTER VOTES TO AID FLOOD BONDS

Placentia Farm Center voted to support the flood control bond election at its regular meeting at Haiber's cafe last night.

The motion read: "That the Placentia Farm Center go on record in support of flood control program to be voted July 27, and that we pledge our united effort to carry the issue."

C. W. Budd, engineer from the Orange County Flood Control office, explained the various engineering phases of the proposed flood control plan.

Lacks Channel

The need of an adequate control of storm waters was clearly demonstrated last winter, A. W. Kammerer, president of the center, pointed out.

Control of storm water of Carbon and Fullerton creeks is important for the preservation of soil fertility in this area, and heavy damage is done by the Fullerton creek because there is no channel through that city.

A great deal of sediment is gathered as the water flows through Placentia ranches and heavy damage is done when it is deposited in the residential districts in the southern and eastern part of Fullerton.

Outlet Provided

"We feel the dams in Brea, Fullerton and Carbon creeks will check the flow of the streams in flood times, and the channel work as proposed will provide an outlet for the water," Kammerer said.

He pointed out that most of the flood waters can be conserved through spreading works in the Santa Ana river channel from Alwood to Cypress.

GLEE CLUB OF INDIANS SINGS IN S. A. CHURCH

The Men's glee club of Bacone college, Oklahoma, will be presenting to the community Tuesday evening at the First Baptist church. The concert will commence at 7:30.

This glee club is usually given the term of the "Singing Redmen" because it is composed of Indians who are attending Bacone college.

Sixteen tribes are represented by the 25 members of the club, most of whom are full- or nearly full-blooded Indians. They will appear in their colorful Indian costumes.

This glee club has become rapidly famous throughout the country as a singing organization. This year they were the surprise hit of the program during the biennial convention of the Federated Music Clubs of America, which met in Indianapolis in April. After a tour of the East they are now making a western tour, giving concerts during this month in California.

In addition to the singing, Mrs. Gordon Gerber, the wife of the director, is a very talented violinist and will offer several numbers.

The entire program consists of both Indian music and "white man's" music.

Consider Measure On Cable Service

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—A sub-committee of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce today considered a bill which would permit telephone, telegraph, radio and cable companies to supply newspapers with reports of ships at sea "at a nominal charge or without cost."

The bill would amend a section of the federal communications act which prohibits communications companies from issuing any franked or free interstate or foreign service.

Every garden should have a herb border. Plant sage for the beauty of its foliage as well as for its flavor. It is an excellent gray-leaved plant for the flower garden.

We, THE PEOPLE by JAY FRANKLIN

MR. MORGAN SPILLS THE BEANS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In spite of all precautions, the worst has happened. Walter Lippman has written in vain for two years. In vain did Mr. Lamont journey to Scotland. In vain did a midget sit on a mighty lap. In vain was the label of "red herring" pinned on

President Roosevelt's tax reforms. For Mr. J. P. Morgan, returning from dear old England on a British super-liner, has allowed himself to be interviewed on the subject of income tax. If Tom Corcoran and Ben Cohen had been asked what Mr. Morgan could say that would most help the President, even these adroit gentlemen could have devised nothing more to their purpose than the following bit of fiscal philosophy from our No. 1 Big Banker:

"Anybody's justified in doing anything as long as the law doesn't say it's wrong. It's not a moral question at all. It's a legal question. You do what you're compelled to do by law, and you don't do any more than you have to. Remember, it's just as bad to pay more than you should as to pay too little."

Ichabod! Ichabod! The glory has departed. O Absalom! my son! my son! Caught by the short hairs in the branches of a sour-apple tree, the dreadful doctrine dangles before the bereaved eyes of wailing Wall Street. Roll out the rubber-tired hacks, muffle the drums and half-mast the stock-quotations. For at last, in all its awful nakedness, the nation sees what it only suspected, that the patriotism of our multimillionaires is a matter of legal technicalities and that they feel it is a mistake to contribute a nickel more than they can be forced to pay toward the cost of keeping America safe for the upper brackets.

In all seriousness, what sort of doctrine is this to spill before a country which still remembers how, during the World War, we were urged to give until it hurt, how draft-dodging and slackers were branded as immoral, and how a lot of ordinary American citizens had their health, limbs and lives sacrificed for the good of the country and to the considerable profit of the House of Morgan? What will the workers of Chicago, mourning the seven steel-strikers shot down by the police and the 36 wounded pickets, think of the theory that anything goes so long as you can get away with it?

The Federal income-tax is undeniably painful to many people and comes in for a lot of criticism. It is difficult to work up much pride and enthusiasm for a fiscal system which invariably collects from the little man while it lets the Morgans go untaxed during the depression. Yet people who live under a government and enjoy its benefits must expect to pay for the privilege of living in a system which, with all its defects, makes it possible for them to receive taxable income. Why should we not all be willing to support the government, in accordance with our means? Why should not Mr. Morgan, whose stake in America is tremendous, expect as a matter of common patriotism to pay his fair share of the cost of running our common country, instead of justifying loop-holes and evasions by which the very rich escape their obligation to the country which supports them?

Mr. Morgan may not think it a moral issue, but it is one for the rest of us. Wage-earners are already paying an income tax—the Federal pay-roll taxes—in addition to the numerous indirect and sales taxes devised to relieve them of their buying-power. The middle classes are being bled white at both ends of the family pocket-book. For every millionaire who evades his share of the load, the rest of us must pay more, in increased taxes or increased public debt. The best chance that the country as a whole may come through this period of readjustment lies in the hope that our richest men shall willingly share the common fortune and support the common government in accordance with their means.

Now Mr. Morgan has dispelled the last illusion that we might expect a responsible attitude on the part of the "economic royalties."

Henceforth, the President need only quote Mr. Morgan's bean-spilling allocation to the ship-news reporters, if he wants to prove his point.

For our greatest banker has been caught flat-footed in "The public be damned!" attitude which all mature administrators of great economic powers should have abandoned a generation ago.

TEAMSTERS TO CONDUCT DRIVE IN SOUTHLAND

SEATTLE, Wash., June 15.—(UP)—The International teamsters' union laid plans today to open a drive in the metropolitan district of Los Angeles to obtain an estimated 20,000 new members.

The teamsters' union, a powerful affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, ended its first western states conference after reaffirming confidence in William Green, president of the A.F. of L., and condemning the Committee For Industrial Organization, which it branded as communistic.

The teamsters announced also that they would take over the Brewery Workers' union and that effective today brewery products which do not bear a special A.F. of L. label will not be handled.

Dave Beck, international vice-president of the teamsters, predicted that the membership would increase from its present 30,000 to 130,000 in the western United States within the next year.

The teamsters said that they would cooperate with the International Longshoremen's association as long as the I.L.A. adhered to A.F. of L. principals.

GAIN IN REVENUES TO REDUCE DEFICIT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 15.—(UP)—A $30,000,000 increase in state general fund revenues will serve to reduce the fund deficit by approximately $5,000,000 by June 30, State Controller Harry B. Riley predicted today after surveying operations of the current fiscal year.

For the first time since 1933, all indications are that the state will retire more registered warrants than have been issued for the year, he said.

He estimated warrants registered during the 12-month period would total approximately $54,000,000, with $22,000,000 worth of retirements serving to lengthen the general fund deficit by $8,000,000.

In addition to these retirements he said, the state treasury still will have about $20,000,000 to meet warrants maturing in August.

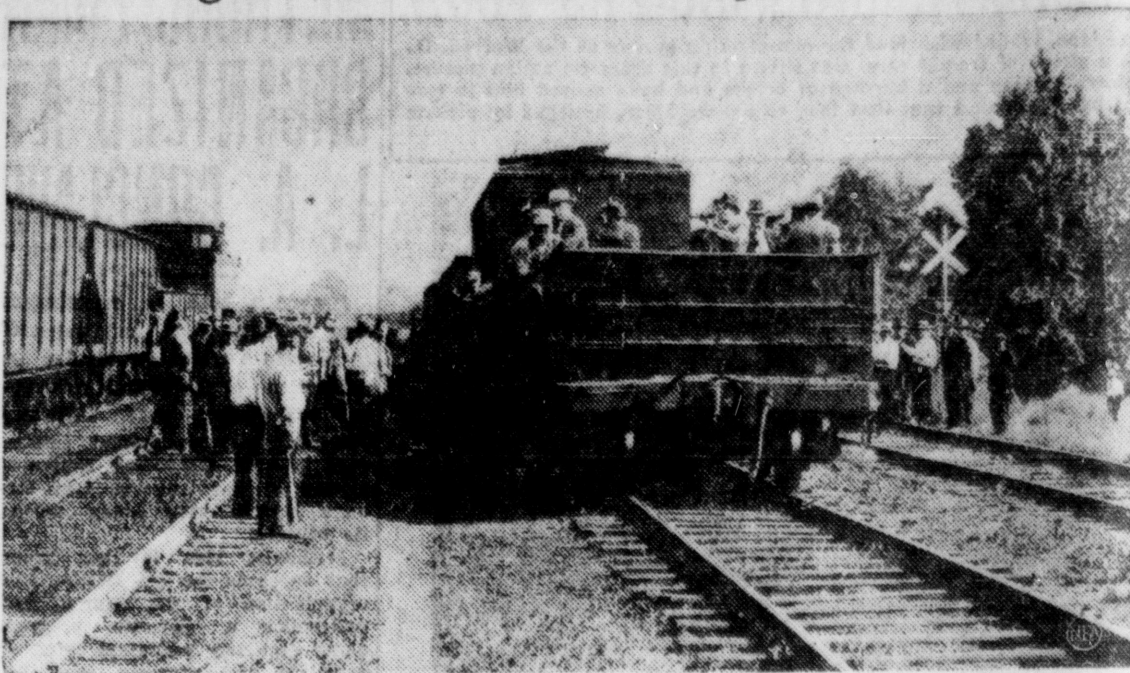

The three per cent state sales tax accounted for the greatest revenue increase, income from this source jumped $14,000,000, an increase of 21 per cent over the same 11 months of the last fiscal year.

This 40-car Baltimore and Ohio freight train was blocked by pickets at the gates of the strike-bound Republic Steel Corp. plant at Warren, O. Trainmen abandoned their charge, as shown here, and left the yards with the engine. C. I. ## "Mike The Monster" Creeps With Sinister Leer Into Voices Of Local Policemen

By MALCOLM BOSTWICK

"Mike Fright," that monster devotedly to be hated, which has frequently shivered the timbers and voices of radio performers—all except Gracie Allen, Joe Penner or some such of the more or less piliated-performer crowd—quietly has crept into ranks of the Santa Ana police department.

The local police department, once goat at first, he said. "Talking to an audience in a room is easy comparatively speaking." With completion recently by W. B. Moreland, radio expert and police officer, of two-way radio broadcasting equipment for five police cars, every officer on the department took and passed an examination in Los Angeles, becoming an operator. There are 24 members on the department; all, including the two matrons, Dorothy Russell and Edith May, have their official operator's license.

Has Other Plans All of the officers are getting into the swing of broadcasting now and the little disc is becoming a bit more human for them.

With his department provided with Red Cross first aid equipment and certificates, and radio operator's license, Chief Floyd W. Howard said today that other plans are being made for increased efficiency. He pointed to scores of first aid cases handled by the department this year and to recent successful use of the two-way radio in connection with the fatal ambulance crash at First street and Verano road, outside of the city limits.

Plan Workouts "The next move will be July 1 when a rule goes into effect, requiring each officer to take at least four hours of workout in the gymnasium monthly," he said. "Major A. F. Moulton of the department will be able to give instructions in the gym" and Bob Russick has agreed to help."

The "gym" and squad rooms are equipped with handball court, ping pong table, striking bag, mats, wall stalls, volley ball nets, horizontal bars and ample space for calisthenics.

A clay pipe with a slender stem from 15 to 20 inches long is known as a "churchwarden."

Reach Agreement In Union Dispute

SEATTLE, June 15.—(UP)—Longshoremen's and teamsters' unions today settled a bitter six month dispute concerning jurisdiction over inland warehousemen. The settlement was expected to have far-reaching effects on the Pacific coast.

Both the International Longshoremen's association and the Brotherhood of teamsters agreed to let the American Federation of Labor decide at its next convention in Denver in October which union should number warehousemen among its members.

Five business houses closed by the controversy will re-open immediately.

Three hundred persons were affected by the settlement. A citizens committee brought the longshoremen and teamsters together. The settlement coincided with a western states conference being held here by the teamsters.

Hotel Strikers Vote On Proposal

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—(UP)—Nearly 3500 employees of the 16 leading hotels of San Francisco, which have been strike-bound since May 1, began balloting today on whether to accept a "final" compromise offer made by the operators.

Six voting machines were installed in strike headquarters and was expected the balloting would be completed late today.

Do not animals and birds, as well as humans, often quench their thirst by tapping barrel cactus, natural water barrels.

FREE STATE TO VOTE JULY 1 ON CONSTITUTION

DUBLIN, June 15.—(UP)—Free State citizens vote July 1 on the new "all but Republican" constitution sponsored by Eamon De Valera, president of the executive council.

The lower chamber, or dail of the parliament, approved the constitution last night by a vote of 82 to 48, with labor party men and followers of W. T. Cosgrave, De Valera's predecessor in office, opposing.

The dail was dissolved. A new one will be elected July 1 coincident with the constitutional plebiscite, and the new one will meet July 21. If the constitution is approved it will become law after 181 days from the date of the plebiscite, or December 29.

Opposing the constitution bill, Cosgrave said it was forced through by a party vote and that it would restrict freedom of the press.

De Valera denied this. He said the constitution had been framed carefully and would "bring peace and order, and machinery for settling differences."

King George VI is excluded from the constitution. There is but one indirect reference to the British empire of which the Free State is a part.

De Valera said it will not be necessary to change "a single word or comma" of the constitution in the event Ireland at any time formally is proclaimed a republic.

SANTA ANANS TO LEAVE TONIGHT ON LONG TRIP

YOUNG MAN MAY GET "BREAK" IN COURT HEARING

Conferring of the DeMolay degree of chevalier on two Santa Anans, John Schrier and Shelley Horton in Kansas City, Mo., on June 15 will be the highlight of a cross country trip for the two young men, who will sail from New York City June 25 for Europe with 100 other DeMolays from all parts of the United States. Schrier, Horton and Louis McCowen of this city and Rodney Stogdill of Long Beach will travel together, leaving tonight by automobile on the first lap of their trip.

The trek was planned under auspices of the Grand Council Order of DeMolay to give members of the Order opportunity to visit historical places in Europe and especially in France where is located the burial ground of Jacques DeMolay, for whom the order was named.

High Honors
With headquarters in Kansas City, the grand council will recognize "outstanding service in DeMolay fields" by conferring of the degree of chevalier on Schrier and Horton, who will receive the honor from the founder of DeMolay, Frank Land.

Although the tour will be concluded for the DeMolay party July 21, the three Santa Anans and the Long Beach resident will remain in Europe for a more extensive tour. McCowen plans a trip to Geneva, Switzerland, his mother's birthplace. Later, he will attend international Boy Scout jamboree in Amsterdam, and also will make a tour of England.

Back in September
The Santa Anans will go to Baden, Germany, where they will be guests of Helmut Ludwig, a government official. They will make a motor trip through Switzerland, traveling over St. Gotthard pass, main auto route crossing the Alps. After a tour of the northern lake regions of Italy, they will return via the same route to Frankfurt on the Rhine.

The four travelers expect to arrive in New York early in September, after more than four months of travel. Horton and the Long Beach resident will make an extensive stay in Ohio, while Schrier will continue home, stopping en route to visit with relatives in Missouri.

Horton is son of Dr. and Mrs. Roy S. Horton; Schrier, of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Schrier, and McCowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis McCowen.

PLAN STRATEGY ON F. D. R. COURT BILL

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—A strongly worded adverse committee report on President Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization bill today started both the administration and forces opposed to the measure planning their final strategy for a vigorous floor fight.

Mr. Roosevelt's supporters kept their plans secret. Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, commissioned by the chief executive to salvage as much of the bill as possible, gave no indication when he would call it from the calendar.

Opposition senators said they had 20 supporters willing to join in a filibuster. Few measures have passed the senate under such concerted attack.

Some sources believed that the administration would let the measure "sleep" until they were certain of approval of some compromise, then call it quickly for consideration. There was even a possibility that it would go over until next session.

MEXICO'S CHIEF ATTENDS FETE

HIS EXCELLENCY DANCES: President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico, who never attends parties given by society folk in the capital, dances with the wife of an enlisted man at a fete held in the barracks in Mexico, D.F., in celebration of Soldiers' Day.

A little-known law, Section 499-B of the California vehicle code, was "pulled out of hock" by Judge Kenneth Morrison of Santa Ana justice court today because Clail Lancaster, 22, of 504 North Main, borrowed a car from a used car lot Saturday night and went riding in it.

Section 499-B provides that a person shall not take a car, temporarily or permanently, without the owner's consent, and shall not deprive him of its use without his consent. To violate the section is to commit a misdemeanor.

One Is Felony
But Section 503, upon which "38.44 per cent of cases involving car 'borrowing' without owner's consent, are based, practically duplicates Section 499-B. Judge Morrison pointed out. Yet violation of Section 503 is a felony. Both laws were created by the 1935 legislature.

Until Judge Morrison brought out the information, few of the officials here, knew there was such a section as 499-B, a checkup showed.

Prosecutor May Act
Lancaster, according to his story to Santa Ana police, wanting to go to his friends who were on a party in a neighboring community, entered the G. E. Brice used car lot, 305 French street, "borrowed" a car and left. Later, he planned to return it to the lot, he said, but feared action against him and left it parked on Orange avenue, near First street. He was arrested under Section 503.

On the felony count, preliminary hearing was set yesterday for June 28 at 9 a. m., but with revelation of the misdemeanor section by Judge Morrison, the district attorney may ask dismissal of the felony charge "in favor" of a misdemeanor charge, it was reported, in which case, Lancaster will face trial in justice court or will plead guilty there. On the felony charge, Lancaster faces possibility of being bound over for trial in superior court.

FORD MEN WARNED ON UNION ACTIVITY

DETROIT, June 15.—(UP)—Ford Motor company officials today advised three employees—high officers of the Workers' Council for Social Justice, Inc.—that if they left their jobs to engage in union activities, their employment would be discontinued.

Harry Bennett, Ford personnel director and chief of the service department, said that Arthur E. Nelson, Robert Monteth and Roy A. Irwin, respectively president, vice president and secretary of the council, had been notified that their failure to report for work was a violation of company rules.

Cupid Sets Mark As 41 Ask Grants

A record for the number of applications for marriage licenses filed in one day was established at the county license bureau yesterday, when 41 couples filed their notices of intention to marry, it was announced today by County Clerk J. M. Backs.

This is the largest daily total since the notices of intention first were required by law, under the "sin marriage" act of 1927. It was taken as an indication that the current month might set a new record for licenses issued, since 1927. Last June had a total of 488.

STEEL COMPANY'S PLANE CRASHES DELIVERING WORKERS' FOOD

Faltering a few feet above ground and side-slipping out of control, this plane, loaded with food for non-striking miners at the Warren, O., plant of the Republic Steel Corporation, is seen just before it crashed into a string of freight cars, also shown in this dramatic action picture. The pilot was uninjured. He charged, according to plant managers, that snipers' bullets and a barrage of bricks and bolts caused him to lose control of the ship. In the lower foreground may be seen the runway used by five planes that flew food to the workmen, besieged by pickets in the greatest steel strike since 1919.

QUARTET GETS 15-DAY TERMS

Four men, caught in the act of stripping a stolen San Francisco car, near La Vida Mineral Springs in Carbon canyon Saturday afternoon, and jailed here after a 55-minute chase by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Merle Dean and Deputy James Musick, were given 15 days each in county jail yesterday, by Justice H. I. Spence of Fullerton, after they pleaded guilty to petty theft complaints.

The men were Noel Ozburn, 24, Chino, who admitted serving time for robbery; Paul Walford, 19, Chino; Melvin Williams, 21, Los Angeles, and Julian Justice, 23, Chino.

Theft Admitted
Williams and Justice, Army deserters from San Francisco, admitted theft of the San Francisco car and will be sent to San Francisco to face grand theft charges after completing sentences here.

Although Ozburn could be charged with felony as having a prior conviction of felony, the district attorney's office decided against such prosecution on the grounds it would be too expensive to bring witnesses from San Francisco upon three different occasions, as would be necessary.

The men were discovered by L. A. Lemke and his brother, ranchers. When the officers overtook the quartet, they were atop the ridge between Carbon and Brea canyons, completely exhausted from their mad dash through the wild country there.

Police News

Charles M. Marks, local pawn shop dealer, who was charged with failure to hold a pawned watch for one year, as required by law, today asked postponement of his trial until June 21, 9 a. m. Judge Kenneth Morrison, Santa Ana justice, before whom the case has been taken, granted the request.

An automobile, registered to L. M. Gujon, Route 1, Box 587, Garden Grove, abandoned at Westminster after its theft from Garden Grove several days ago, was placed in a Westminster garage, for safe-keeping, by deputy sheriffs yesterday. Fred Rohrs, 1444 East 17th, Santa Ana, reported to sheriff's officers, the finding of two yellow wire wheels from what is believed to be a 1934 or 1935 Chevrolet car. The wheels were moved to the sheriff's office for safe-keeping.

"No Health Fear In Prado Plan," Engineer Holds

If the proposed Prado dam, key to the Orange county flood control program, is built and operated as planned by the army engineers, it will offer no menace to the health of Corona residents, City Engineer C. Gully, of Corona, advised the Corona city council Monday.

The council had asked him to investigate the possibility of a large storage reservoir breeding mosquitoes and algae that might affect the health of the neighboring area.

Engineer Gully reported that the dam is not planned for water storage, but for flood control only; that six open conduits would be provided through an adjacent hill, to carry normal surface flow of the stream, and that only such flood conservation as would naturally follow the checking of storm waters, is contemplated.

ALTURAS, Cal., June 15.—(UP)—Eight jurors—including one relative of the defendant—were seated tentatively today in the murder trial of Harry French, accused of slaying Claude L. McCracken in a mountain newspaper feud.

While curious, excited Modoc county people crowded into the courtroom, attorneys dismissed seven veniremen before they selected two and seated them with six chosen yesterday.

Theodore Bassett, Alturas automobile dealer, and husband of a first cousin of French, was one of the new jurors selected. He was seated over strenuous objections of the prosecution.

WPA WORKERS GET PRIVATE POSITIONS

More than 40 per cent of the men and women on WPA rolls have returned to private industry during the last six months, George B. White, district director of the W.P.A. said today in a message to local officials.

The reduction in relief workers has been on an average of 500 per month, and has resulted in a saving of $2,300 monthly in Orange and San Diego counties, White said.

There have been few new applications for W.P.A. jobs despite the 3000 reduction in the number of workers in the two counties since the first of the year, the director pointed out.

Supervisors Get Invitation To Air Show Here

A free lunch and a parachute jump were promised the county supervisors today when William Croddy, representing the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, invited the board to attend the air show at Martin's airport next Sunday.

The supervisors looked with favor on the invitation, except as it concerned the parachute jump.

"If I was right sure that none of the elected county officials would be hanging around there with shotguns when we were coming down, I might chance it," suggested one board member doubtfully.

The board also received written invitation to attend the opening of San Jacinto state park next Saturday. Supervisor John Mitchell announced that he might attend.

FINLAND PAYS ON U. S. NOTE

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—State department officials today added an imposing series of red ink figures to the promissory notes received from 12 European governments 15 years ago and then replaced the notes in the "war debt" files for another six months.

So passed into default history another semi-annual installment date on which the European debtors should have paid into the United States treasury a total of $205,338,754.04 as interest and a small payment on the principal of approximately $20,000,000.00.

Instead, the United States collected $183,143 from Finland, the only debtor government which semi-annually marches to the treasury teller's window with cash instead of polite regrets.

Eight of the other 12 governments already have notified the state department that they do not propose to pay the June 15 installment. Similar messages are expected from the other four debtor governments some time today.

PRESIDENT FAVORS LABOR VIEWPOINT

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today said that if a steel company is willing to make an agreement verbally, why shouldn't it be willing to sign its name to the contract.

KEN Murray SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, June 15.—One of the year's outstanding feats is that fellow in Kansas who just wrote 13,176 words on the back of a postcard. That is something distinctly worth while. Most men only write, "Wish you were here, too" on a postcard and let it go at that. This Kansas chap has bettered the average by 13,171 words.

A guy like that must be able to write a 10-word telegram with a whitewash brush.

When he isn't practicing economy on postcards, the Kansas marvel is probably steaming unused stamps off return envelopes, salvaging paper clips and revulcanizing rubber bands.

His other feat was also masterly and points to an even greater future. A man that can engrave the Lord's Prayer on the head of a pin can undoubtedly thread the hawser of Noah's Ark through the eye of a needle. Maybe this is the fellow to put the world back on its feet. ## METHODIST MEN ORGANIZED AT L. A. CONCLAVE

Methodist Men, an organization new in Methodism and expected to provide a model for similar organizations of the church throughout the country, was instituted yesterday at the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in Los Angeles, four Orange county men being among its officers.

Methodist Men is the group that succeeds the old Brotherhood organization of the church, and undertakes a concrete program along regularly organized lines, to correlate and promote work between district groups, and to forward Christian fellowship and service.

Elected to Office
The constitution of the new organization was presented to the conference in Los Angeles yesterday by Russell R. Lutes, of Santa Ana, formerly president of the San Diego-Phoenix district of the Men's Brotherhood.

Lutes declined the presidency of the new Southern California organization, and then was elected vice-president of the group, Wray Andrew, of Long Beach, being chosen president. J. R. Hatfield, of Corona is secretary, and Ira Wiede, of La Habra, treasurer.

George Faires, of Santa Ana, was elected president of the San Diego-Phoenix district, of which Ralph Chaffey, of Garden Grove, was named secretary.

Organization Method
George N. Page and John Cribbs were elected president and secretary of the Los Angeles district; L. E. Martin, Glendale, was named head of the Fresno-Glendale district; Howard Corey and Walter Arnold, both of Alhambra, were chosen president and secretary of the Pasadena-Arizona district; Lorne D. Middough and Royal Weaver were named president and secretary of the Long Beach district.

The new constitution, as presented to the conference yesterday by Lutes, shows the method of organization by which Methodist Men obtain their authority from the church, through the area bishop, his cabinet, the commission on men's work and the conference board of education. The division of the main body into district and local church units also was shown, together with an outline of the aims and work of the group.

Lutes further participated in yesterday's program with a summary of activities.

Martin's telegram to the C. I. O. president read: "The auto workers of the nation will continue to handle steel from struck steel plants for the time being. However, we are standing by ready to refuse to use steel in the production of automobiles unless the steel companies make a speedy amicable settlement with striking steel workers."

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—(UP)—A diary provided today's new clues to the William Desmond Taylor murder case which was still unsolved after 15 years of perennial investigations.

The diary belonged to Chauncey Eaton who was chauffeur for Mrs. Charlotte Shelby when Taylor was shot February 1, 1923. Mrs. Shelby is the mother of Mary Miles Minter, star of the silent movie picture era. Taylor was Miss Minter's director and they were in love.

GRIGGS WARNS AGAINST USE OF FIREWORKS

Entering complaint with Santa Ana police today, Dale Griggs, park superintendent, issued a general warning to local Fourth of July minded youths who have been hurling giant firecrackers into the bleachers, among the baseball fans, at recent games.

He particularly referred to the Santa Ana - Huntington Beach game, won by Huntington Beach, 6 to 0, last Friday night, when a crowd of 1000 to 1100 persons attended.

Cause Blindness
Police said arrests would be made. Today, Assistant Chief Harry Fink was investigating and said he expected to make at least two arrests before night.

"Hurling of these firecrackers endangered the happiness, the lives of those attending," Griggs said today. "Such a firecracker, exploding in the face of anyone probably would bring permanent blindness. Even if that were not true, those firecrackers might fall between the seats to the ground below, and if boards or paper should be there, might set fire to the structure. Several might lose their lives in that case. Throwing these firecrackers is extremely hazardous."

Inquiry Starts
Griggs said he did not know where the firecrackers were purchased.

Officer Fink said the youths, when arrested, could be charged with disturbing the peace or with violating the city ordinance which prohibits shooting of firecrackers in the city. If arrested, the law violators would be given into custody of juvenile authorities for prosecution, officials said.

Townsend Topics

By W. F. ROCKWELL

John Steven McGroarty says in the Los Angeles Times Sunday Magazine of June 12: "A mere reading of the Constitution of the United States, not to speak of a study of it, makes plain to even the mind of a boy, that the business of government is separated into three distinct and separated authorizations—the executive, the legislative and the judicial."

"The President of the United States is the 'Executive' and his function as set forth is to execute the laws, not to make them or to pass on their validity when made, but simply to execute them."

If a President were to attempt to make laws by forcing the legislature to pass laws which he has caused to be framed, he oversteps his Constitutional status. Nothing could be clearer than this. And if he were to set up a judiciary designed to carry out his will, he again overstepped the limits and boundaries with which he is hedged in by the Constitution.

"Therefore it follows that if the people desire to clothe a President with power to not only execute laws, but also to make them and decide upon their validity, the only course to pursue is to abolish the Constitution and create a form of government exactly the opposite to that under which the United States has operated since its inception."

Looks like McGroarty and Dr. Townsend think alike on the present Supreme Court issue. Does anybody except anarchists want "a form of government exactly the opposite to that under which the United States has operated since its inception?" McGroarty is a "died in the wool" Democrat yet, in the above quotation, seems to oppose the President's wishes on the Supreme Court debate that now is being so widely discussed throughout America.

Again referring to the Ladies Social Townsend club at Mrs. F. W. Morris's home last Saturday afternoon, a poll of those present showed that all but one are Register subscribers.

Club 4 meets tonight at the home of W. A. Culbertson, 210 W. 2nd st., to elect a delegate to the Riverside convention and transact other business.

Club 5 meets tonight in the church at the corner of Richland and Parton.

Club 6 meets tonight in the Community House of the Christian church, on 6th st., between Broadway and Birch sts.

Club 8 meets tonight in Lincoln school, on North French st.

Club 9 meets tonight at the Holloway home, 2027 Cypress ave.

Club 12 meets tonight at Santa Ana Gardens.

Fullerton Club No. 1 had a delightful turkey dinner last night in the Ebell clubhouse. Rev. Joe Nation spoke with his usual intense, impressive words that showed the living application of the teachings of Christ in the Townsend plan, the reality of the Golden Rule.

He averred: one Townsend talk a day and this was his 332nd since the movement began. Yet this close attention to the Townsend work does not in the least interfere with his church work. His church is out of debt and flourishing in splendid shape.

With him on the platform were the following Fullerton pastors:

Rev. Dominguez of the Mexican Mission; Rev. Dow Hoffman of the Methodist church and Rev. Charles of the Christian church.

The orchestra played Hawaiian music. Mr. and Mrs. John Hoge with the writer and wife represented Santa Ana, and Mrs. Myrtle Brierton of Orange was a visitor.

George D. Higgins of Los Angeles will be the speaker at the Buena Park meeting with a potluck supper, Thursday night, June 17.

ROSE BOWL HERO BITTER AGAINST COLLEGE FOOTBALL

"While I watched you wrestling and I visited them on the way home."

In there tonight I was thinking all the time about your Rose Bowl game with Alabama. I told him "It seemed only yesterday (it was 12 years ago) and mister, you were a sweet football player that afternoon; about the greatest individual performance I've ever witnessed."

George Wilson grinned, and the corners of his mouth danced. He isn't as big a man as you think. He weighed right around 195 that day in a Washington suit. Says he won't touch better than 150 now. All young wrestlers train down; only the older ones have a "rubber tire" around the belly. The all-time No. 1 Husky left halfback pulled a pipe and a can of tobacco out of his leather jacket. We were in the little nook hard by the wrestlers' dressing room which the state inspector calls headquarters at the Orange County Athletic club.

Still Regrets Rose Bowl Loss

"You know," reflected Wilson, "it was a crime for me to lose to Alabama. Why hell, it was one of the easiest games we had all season. Got an extra toothpick? Thank; this damn pipe jams up all the time. You know, all we had to do was run their ends. There was nothing to it. If the end faded I cut inside him. When he charged I ran around him. Honest, I don't see yet how we lost it."

Wilson paused to light up. He had a tough time getting the little pipe going; it wheezed like a Model T Ford going uphill.

Jimmie Heffron, the Anaheim delegate, took the floor. He had just come from a Flag Day parade and was wearing white pants, a dark coat and a Panama pulled down over his eyes. A miniature flag was pinned in his lapel.

"When I first came to this country I dropped down to the bowling alley in Anaheim and they were raving about a football team they had over at Long Beach," recalled Jimmie, who arrived in California by way of Oregon. "So I asked 'em if that was the same Long Beach that played a little high school from town in Washington named Everett, and did the boys shut up? Their wings must have been clipped. That was in 1920 wasn't it, George?"

"December 17," said Wilson without hesitation. Wilson went to Washington from Everett high school.

"Well EVERYBODY in Long Beach got clipped," he continued. "But I guess we were a rubey looking flock at that. We didn't have two uniforms alike, and we weren't so big either. You know tonight's the first time I've been in Orange county since? I had an uncle and aunt who owned 40 acres of oranges near Anaheim."

Ringside 'Boy Friend' Only Hero To Lose At O.C.A.C.

By PAUL VISSMAN

Last night was Horatio Alger night at the Orange County Athletic club, that rendezvous on way 101, sometimes referred to as the House of Horrors.

All the heroes—with one exception—won their matches. The fans sat a rear row when an enthusiastic youth staged a "Boy Treats Girl" act by maltreating Walter Underhill while Underhill was pinned under the seat and could not help himself. Underhill kicked her boy friend in the puss after regaining his feet.

Dr. Len Hall, champion of the world—in some places—cracked down on Leo Numa and won his half of the double main event.

Hans Steinke gave Walter Underhill "the works," taking him in two straight falls in the first half of the double main.

Tumble Into Press Row

In their match Hall pinned Numa for the first fall in 14:30 minutes with his famous rope kick-off after a hectic battle with the Lion Man. At the gong Numa rushed out and tied Hall's arms over the ropes. Following several rope tie-ups Numa varied his act by spitting fingers and slugging. The pair tumbled into press row where they battled for a few minutes before getting back in the ring where Numa delivered one of his favorite holds (a kick in the groin) before Hall took the fall.

Numa took the second fall in 7:07 with a back-breaker and fished with an after-time kick in the back.

The good doctor came out for the third fall and evened a lot of old scores when he started to slug. Numa tried for his back-breaker several times but was discouraged each time when Hall smashed him in the tummy. He won the third and deciding fall in 4:23 with a body press. Numa needed medical assistance afterward.

Hans Steinke, the German Rock of Gibraltar, cracked down on Walter Underhill, the Dracula of wrestling, and won the first half of the double main event in two straight falls.

Steinke took the first fall in 15:02 with a back-breaker and leg split. He took the second fall in 12:07 with a knife lock.

Steinke Gets Ired

Underhill probably knows now that the German people are hard to arouse to anger but when aroused—wow! He started fouling with the first bell and went right through his routine, including pulling at Steinke's mouth, biting, gouging and strangling. The first inkling Underhill had that Steinke was tired of playing was when the German grabbed him and butted him in the head.

Not satisfied with his first loss Underhill continued biting his way through Steinke until the German giant slugged him to the floor, picked him up and tied him in the ropes in a "Reverse Hangman" if you get what I mean. A regular hangman leaves the hangee with his head tied in the ropes.

Steinke took the second fall in 12:07 with a knife lock which—when analyzed by slow motion camera and algebra means that he picked Underhill off the floor until soft. Just before the fall Underhill flew through the ropes and two fans with more enthusiasm than judgment started punishing him. Steinke tried to stop them and finally succeeded with the help of Referee Joe Varga.

Wilson Uses Flying Tackle

George Wilson, former University of Washington football player, defeated Ad ("Bomber") Herman, introduced as formerly of the University of Vienna, in 17:28 with a flying tackle through the ropes and a body slam.

Young Stecher lost the preliminary to Juan Del Rios in 17:12 when Del Rios pulled a Garrison finish and let back off the ropes to pin Stecher to the mat.

PAR-agraphs

By ART KRENZ

(NEA Service Golf Writer)

Gene Sarazen at last admits that he is getting old.

In the Professional Golfers' association match play championship over the course of the Pittsburgh Field club, the Squire of Brookfield cut the weight of his wooden clubs from 16 to 14 ounces and shortened his swing.

Called on to play two rounds of tournament play one day, the late Walter Travis switched to a lighter set of woods in the afternoon.

A workman is as good as his tools.

Therefore it is a good idea to let your pro fit you with properly weighted clubs. He knows your game and the club suited for your swing. It is difficult to obtain desired results when clubs are too light or too heavy.

Type of shaft is also important. When a golfer is a slow swinger, a whippy shaft often is necessary to get maximum distance.

The fast swinger needs a less flexible shaft to bring the clubhead into the ball at the proper time.

WHEN THE FAST SWINGER EMPLOYS A SHAFT THAT IS TOO WHIPPY, THE CLUBHEAD TRAILS THE HANDS AT THE IMPACT POSITION...

©NEA

If the clubhead trails the hands, as is the case when the speedy swinger employs a shaft that is too whippy, a slice can only result.

STARS INVADE COLTON; OILERS FACE ANAHEIM

Here to "Lift" America's Cup

Behind the gracious and debonair smiles of T. O. M. Sopwith, British airplane manufacturer, and his wife, who arrived aboard Queen Mary, lurks the burglarious notion to make off with a piece of America's most treasured silverware, the "America's Cup". Sopwith's challenging yacht, Endeavour I and II, are already in American waters, tuning up for the big race

Orange	5 6 .500
Riverside	3 6 .333
Westminster	2 7 .300
Colton	3 7 .300

Tonight's Games
Santa Ana at Colton; Anaheim at Huntington Beach; Orange at San Bernardino; Westminster at Riverside.

With the Stars at Colton, interest of most Santa Anans turns tonight to Huntington Beach where the Oilers may run into a peck of trouble with Lyle Morse and company of Anaheim.

Anaheim gave Huntington Beach a 4-1 shellacking the first time they met this year, Morse limiting the three-time champions to four well distributed singles. "Chico" Sabella is expected to draw the assignment against Morse.

The veteran just coasted through in Santa Ana last week after his colleagues spotted him to six runs in the first three innings. Sabella hasn't allowed an earned run this season.

"Doc" Smith's Smithies will be no cinch at Colton.

The Reds have played the Stars three times this term, and each of their defeats were by the same skinny margin—one run. One of the contests went into extra innings. Colton has a new pitcher now, Little Phil Wire, who beat Huntington Beach a couple of weeks ago. On top of that, first-quarter averages showed Colton third in team batting, only Santa Ana and Huntington Beach being above Judge Hubert Finlay's outfit.

Two other National divisioners invade "A" territory. Orange makes the long hop to San Bernardino, which Santa Ana faces next week. And Westminster goes to Riverside.

SABIN UPSETS FRANK PARKER

LONDON, June 15.—Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, beat Frankie Parker of Spring Lake, N. J., 3-6, 8-6, 6-2, today in the second round of the London grass tennis championships at the Queens club.

Parker was the first American to be eliminated from the tournament. Sabin, in last year's United States rankings, is at 17, while Parker is No. 2. Sabin's game has improved phenomenally and Parker's has remained unchanged. Today's play was in the second round.

Don Budge beat the Belgian internationalist, Jacques van den Eynde, 6-0, 6-3. W. Robertson of Los Angeles beat Leopold Deborman, Belgian Davis cupper, 6-2, 6-2. Gene Mako beat Prince Kutch of India, 6-2, 6-3.

"Bitty" Grant, Atlanta, scored an effortless 6-1, 6-2 victory over J. R. Briggs of England. F. Nakano of Japan beat Lawrence Holl, Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6.

High School's Tennis Courts To Open July 12

Santa Ana high school's new tennis courts will be open for use by the public about July 12, it was decided by the board of education at last night's meeting, when extension of the contract for a period of 12 days was granted by the board.

Anticipating use of the courts by the public, the board decided to apply to WPA for a project to provide supervision of the courts, including such matters as requiring use of proper footwear, and otherwise safeguarding the court's surface.

The great composer half reclined in an easy chair with his bare feet cocked up on the hotel bed. Then "Pepper" Martin reached down, picked up a big guitar and started strumming. He tilted his head, so that his back of a nose pointed straight at the ceiling and he sang:

"Old Frankie'll be a grin-in' when the Cardinals start a winnin'—"

"When we start the Giants a rollin' down the hill."

"The Cub'll go a scootin' when the Cardinals start a shootin'—"

"When we start the ball a rollin' down the hill."

The melody was a familiar hill billy air, but the words were brand new. And the "wild hoss of the Oaseg" was mighty proud of those words. They were right fresh from his reluctant pencil, he explained.

You could see that Pepper was getting a bit too enthusiastic about this music business, so I changed the subject. I asked him, "Have the criticisms of Dizzy Dean's conduct this season cooled the Cardinals' Gashouse gang spirit?"

"Hell, no!" said Pepper. "We don't worry about things like that. Nothing could cool off the Gashouse Gang spirit. Whenever you see the Cards out there on the field, you see a gang of fellers trying to win a ball game with everything they've got. They're real salty. That's why the Cards are always a pennant threat—that's why they're always up there in the first division fighting. They're hustlin' and rough and tough on the field. And somehow that spirit stays with them after they leave the field and go to their hotel. No sir—there's not another club in baseball that has the same fighting spirit of the Gashouse gang."

"The brand of players and managers we've had on the Cards for the past 10 years or so made this Gashouse spirit what you might call a tradition. And that tradition sort of works all through the Cardinals' farm system. So that when a new man comes up from one of our minor clubs—that man usually is a Gashouser before he joins

Elks Shade Wards, 2 To 1, Snatch Lead In City League

SANTA ANA CITY LEAGUE

Santa Ana Elks	W. L. Pct.

Grand Central Market	5 3 .625

As changeable as a sub-deb's heart, the lead in the Santa Ana City softball league shifted back to the Elks today, with Montgomery Ward second and the climbing Grand Central Market third.

In the season's first "natural," the Elks subdued Montgomery Ward, 2-1, and dragged the Fourth-and-Main streeters out of first place last night. True, the Elks' leadership is technical because the Wards haven't lost any more games than the B. P. O. E. but the Wards' postponed conflict is with one of the toughest teams in the confederacy, the Grant Central Market. It will be played, according to President Kenneth Morrison, the eve of June 25.

A new pitcher (Ed Cox) was on the firing line for the Elks, replacing the dismissed Joe Rapier, and he shaded Walter Jordan in a mid-season classic. Cox allowed five hits to Jordan's six. Both games were in rare form, walking nobody.

Montgomery Ward scored first. In the second inning, with one gone, Gene Hitt slapped a single to center and came all the way around when Outfielder Ray Short let the ball go through him. Only error charged against the Elks, it cost Pitcher Cox a shutout.

The Elks tied the score in the third on Roger Dominguez' two-bagger and Roy Levens' single. And then—as often happens—Short got a chance to redeem himself. With one out in the sixth, Fred Cartwright got a hit, Silverst forced him, Young to Sullivan, and brought in the winning run when Short came through with a single which Sullivan bobbled at second.

Grand Central Market's 11-1 victory over the South Methodists inaugurated the week's schedule. The 1936 champions made merry with a total of 14 baseruns, including a homer and three singles by Pete Partida and three singles by Nate Levens. After making three runs in the first inning, the Market was dormant until the fifth when it batted around for five tallies. Partida's four four-py added the other pair in the seventh.

GRESCHNER TO TROY; INDIANS GET TITENSOR

By DUNCAN CLARK

The University of California at Berkeley takes the lead!

Six graduating Santa Ana junior college athletes have chosen the Berkeley school in which to further their education—and claim further athletic glory.

At least they expressed such a preference in the Don annual, Del Ano, which appeared on the campus yesterday.

Leading the proposed hegira north are Howard Rash, all-Southern California running guard in football; Fred Lentz, football and rugger; Fred Pinkster, captain of the rugby team; Nissley, basketball; Dave Clark, halfmiler in track, and Willard Lutton, broad-jumper.

U. S. C., Stanford and U. C. L. A. tie for second money.

Bill Greschner and Joe Herbert, star backs, two of the finest jaysee football prospects in junior college ranks, will enroll at the University of Southern California. Greschner and Herbert, however, are not listed among the graduating sophomores.

Allen Titensor, end and co-captain of the football squad, is headed for the "farm" at Palo Alto. Franklin Guthrie, hurdler, is scheduled to follow next spring.

The Bruins take George Griffith, high jumper, and Winfield Mackay, outfielder on the ball team.

Undecided are Dick Connell, running guard of the football team; Burns Drake, baseball player, and "Tay" Riggs basketball and baseball man. Fred Erdhaus, brilliant end, also is uncertain after failing to have his grades accepted by Stanford.

Basketballer Bob Browning is scheduled to enter the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons in Los Angeles. Joe Frías, distance runner in '35 and '36, is headed for New Mexico university. John Jennison, the cager, indicates the University of Washington is his choice. Hal Mosiman, scrappy running guard, likes Occidental. Dick Shepard will attend a medical school.

SOLIS, POWELL AND CARTER FIGHT GOBS

Santa Ana's cagey cuffer, Raoul Solis, has agreed to box Kid Capelli, of the U. S. S. Astoria at the Orange County Athletic club Thursday night. Solis, one of the finest amateurs in the county, has been a consistent winner here.

Sailor Wayne Powell, of the U. S. S. Minnesota, will clash with Lloyd Mackey, rugged Riverside slugger. Powell is middleweight champion of the navy cruiser division.

The third part of the triple main event will see Sailor "Toughy" Steed, of the U. S. S. California, battling Ernie Carter of San Bernardino.

Again this week Matchmaker George Stewart is offering another price inducement to fans. Coupons will appear on the sports page tomorrow entitling those that clip them to a special deal on ringside seats.

THE PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

James J. Braddock didn't ask many of them huge—that have for a benefit three years ago when he did janitor work to keep a roof over the heads of his wife and three young children—and trudged New Jersey wharves seeking work as a longshoreman extra.

Braddock should never again need a benefit after he defends the world heavyweight championship against Joe Louis at Comiskey park, Chicago, June 22.

And if Jersey Jim gets over the Brown Bomber and moves into a scrap with Max Schmeling in September, he'll practically be in the same class with Andy Mellon.

Joe Gould took his good time making a satisfactory financial deal for the titleholder, but closed an excellent one when he got around to it.

Braddock isn't getting any $500,000 guarantee, as you may have suspected, but he's collecting 50 per cent of the net, which expert prognosticators of pugilistic plunder say will be something like $325,000.

Braddock collects something like $65,000 additional before he lashes himself into battle—for picture and radio rights, $10,000 for training at Goldmore, Grand Beach, Mich., etc.

The Family Fighter should come out of his current venture with nearly $400,000, which is all they figured a battle with Max Schmeling would draw.

JACOBS CLEANS UP

Mike Jacobs, the old Broadway ticket scalper, still talks of a million, but trained observers say the show will do well to gross $800,000. Federal and state tax totals 20 per cent.

Jacobs is giving the principals 67½ per cent and making plenty of coconuts, which shows what a promoter can do when operating on his own. Louis' drag is 17½ per cent.

Joe Foley merely is the local front man, and Sheldon Clark or any of the other Chicago bigwigs are mixed up in the staging of the production.

There is a wide variation in advance sale estimates. Gould tells you that there already is $500,000 in the damper. Jacobs, who should know, sets the figure at $400,000. A more likely guess is $300,000.

Gould and Jacobs obviously base their totals on blocks of ducats—straight-away.

In this safety era of sports, when the emphasis is placed on protection and the newspapers are filled with arguments why batsmen should wear helmets to prevent fatal beatings, it certainly is a change of pace to find a band of sportsmen who have concentrated on providing a rendezvous with danger—and perhaps death.

I am referring to the men who invested a round million dollars in the elaborate Roosevelt raceway on Long Island, where they staged that flopshow of a road race last Columbus Day. Remember? That was the lack-lustre initial George Vanderbilt Cup race which was won by Tazio Nuvolari of Italy.

Not a Single Thrill

And the 40,000 shivering spectators who watched that Oct. 12 raceway inaugural didn't get a single thrill during the horsemanship 500-mile contest. Nuvolari won in a walk-away. There was virtually no competition. There were no cracks, no breath-taking speeds, no death-challenging speed. It was like sitting beside a highway and watching the cars stream past. As a spectacle, the great Vanderbilt road race was a complete flop.

But the men who tossed that million bucks into Roosevelt Raceway are going to stage the second Vanderbilt Cup race July 3. And they have to take steps to insure that it will be no flopshow for the spectator again.

They have rebuilt the raceway to step up the speed and the hazards—to provide a compromise between the Indianapolis Speedway and a roadrace. The new track was completed Saturday. It was ready for trial spins today. And from then on, you can expect to read in the papers about how such-and-such driver was smashed up, hospitalized or even killed.

Too Many Turns

Last year the raceway had 16 turns. That was too many. It prevented the drivers from getting up enough speed to make the contest really dangerous. As a result Nuvolari won it with an average of 63.93 miles an hour. So the track engineers eliminated nine of those 16 curves. Leaving only seven. But the seven remaining curves are so situated that when the jalopies barrel into them, they will really be going to town. There will be plenty of danger on those curves because straight-aways lead up to and away from them. And the "human fly" curve will be particularly hazardous—banked 40 feet in the air at a 67 degree angle, and connecting a short straight-many of them huge—that have been consigned to agencies and individuals.

For instance, a raft of choice seats have been placed at the disposal of Joe Triner, handsome chairman of the Illinois Boxing Commission, to supply the needs of influential political powers who no doubt will wind up going through on Annie Oakleys, anyway.

$22,000 FOR PARK

Jacobs made a good deal when he turned down spacious Soldiers' Field at a 25 per cent rental and moved his extravaganza into Comiskey park.

The 40,000 more who might have been accommodated in the lake-front stadium would only have been disgruntled, and the 83,000 seats that Architect Lionel Levy will cram into the South Side ball yard will be ample, with all hands having a much better chance of seeing the fireworks in a more compact arena. At least 40,000 failed to get as much as a glimpse of even a fraction of the late Dave Barry's long count the night Jack Dempsey nailed Gene Tunney at Soldiers' Field.

But what is vastly more important to Jacobs is the large difference between the 25 per cent the park commissioners demanded for Soldiers' Field and the $22,000 flat for which the promoter obtained the use of Comiskey park. Based on a gross of $800,000, the fee makes the rental about 3½ per cent.

A complete sellout would mean a gross approximately $1,250,000, with the tariff at $27.50, $16.50, $11, $5, and $3.50.

NO REFEREE SQUABBLE
Because the Illinois board backed Braddock so well in his runout on Schmeling, Gould says there will be no squabble in regard to the referee. There may be legal entanglements as the result of Braddock taking the powder in New York, but Jacobs can be depended upon to see that the Irishman gets his swag.

And Braddock, not so long ago on relief, will go down in history as having drawn down the healthiest percentage ever paid a fighting man.

Dempsey and Tunney played to intakes of $2,658,660 and $1,935,733, but neither ever had the privilege of taking 50 per cent of the sugar.

Thursday's Games
Fullerton vs. Irvine; Holly Sugar at Brea; Olive at Tustin; San Juan Capistrano at Yorba Linda.

Irvine and Brea retained the lead in the Orange county Night League title race last night by turning back San Juan Capistrano and Brea, respectively.

Irvine scored a one-sided 10 to 3 victory over San Juan Capistrano. Brea turned back Fullerton, 6 to 3.

The beanpickers started their scoring in the second inning when "Bud" Staples drove out a home run with the bases full. "Chub" Sears hammered out a pair of circuits. San Juan Capistrano made a ball game out of it with George (Buddy) Forster, radio crooner and one-time U. C. L. A. grid star, connecting with one of Ray Hodgson's offerings for the circuit.

Although Fullerton collected an even dozen blows off Rudy Montgomery, the veteran tightener in the clutches.

Bill Roger Jr., playing manager of the Fullerton contingent, took the hitting honors of the contest with three for five.

With the Martinez brothers striking out 13 between them and Tom Lacy leading the stickwork, the Holly Sugar company trounced Tustin, 10 to 2. Lacy connected for the lone circuit drive of the contest and hit four for five.

Unlimbering their maces, the Olive sluggers powdered the offerings of Pitcher Dietrich for 14 assorted blows and a 16 to 7 victory over Yorba Linda. Schell, Timken, and Nehrig collected maximum base blows.

LUCKY LOUIS UNINSPIRED, STILL LOOKS LIKE ONE-TRACK FIGHTER

JUST HOW GOOD IS JOE LOUIS
JIM BRADDOCK IS TACKLING A DEVASTATING DEALER AT COMISKEY PARK, JUNE 22, BUT THE BROWN BOMBER IS AS DEBATABLE AS WAS THE CHAMELEONIC JACK SHARKEY...

KRENTZ MUNICIPAL STADIUM, KENOSHA, WIS., LAKEFRONT.

(This is the second of five articles on the Braddock-Louis fight.)

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)
KENOSHA, Wis.—Joe Louis

Barrow shuffles lazily along on the platform pitched in the Municipal Stadium on Kenosha's wind-swept lake front.

Wouldn't never suspect that Louis is the very fortunate young Negro who at Comiskey Park, Chicago, June 22, is to be the first of his race to get a whack at the heavy-weight title since Jack Johnson.

Louis apparently is unconcerned about everything except an appetite that never seems to be appeased and a desire to emulate Rip Van Winkle. The Brown Bomber does everything he likes to excess, and if there anything he loves more than food, it is sound, undisturbed slumber.

Perhaps it is the world's worst sparring partners who make Louis look so bad? They wouldn't be on their pins very long if he attacked them in earnest. He might just as well be shadow boxing.

The style of George Nicholson, a 135-pounder, is somewhat similar to that of the cagey Braddock, but Nicholson has been in the stands with lacerated lips.

George Higgs, a 180-pounder, couldn't get a curtain raiser in Yuma.

Tall and skinny Leonard Dixon is the very antithesis of the champion and worthless to the challenger in a work-out.

In French, "Colt Harris" first name means roof, but Harris, very fat and 40, acts like it means floor. Anyway, that is where he can be located most of the time.

Harris doubles up and grunts every time Smoky Joe makes a feint at his corporation, and hits the deck whenever hit about the head.

He is nothing more than comic relief, if indeed, any is needed at the Louis conditioning rendezvous.

LOUIS LOSES YERVE
Louis performs with the demeanor of a sulky schoolboy going about a task that is highly distasteful. He shuffles forward, shooting feeble lefts at his human punching bags and occasionally tossing a right.

Something seems to have come over Louis. Perhaps Max Schmeling knocked some of the fight out of him that stormy night last June. That wouldn't be surprising, and Louis' folks were suggesting that he retire some time before he met German and disaster.

Louis' style is somewhat different than it was before the Schmeling catastrophe, but rarely is there the slightest variation in his current one. The Dark Angel is looking more than he did.

Louis still appears to be a one-track fighter, and I'm afraid that he'll be a sucker for a right until he calls it quits.

his best shot. When it is successfully parked, the colored clown follows with a right, and then fires his payoff left. The latter is the one he is looking for.

Louis, who is only 23, still is a dandy at concerted fire, and it is that introductory left from which Braddock must get away.

Louis will slaughter anybody who comes to him or backs away on a straight line.

It is the sidestepping business that bothers Smoky Joe.

He has to deliberately shuffle into a new stance every time the other fellow elects to change the course of battle.

He complained that Schmeling fought clumsily.

The Black Uhlan, whose legs were none too good, broke up the colored clown's attack by keeping on the move, bending to his right, and slipping punches.

Louis saw Braddock win the title in his slovenly engagement with Max Baer, and his utter contempt for the Irishman as a warrior.

That he had the same way about Schmeling.

Although Louis is eight years younger than Braddock, not a few trained observers suspect that Jersey Jim's chances will increase as the 15-round battle progresses.

This hardly is complimentary to the Detroit lad's durability and courage.

Louis now weighs 193 1/2. He expects to scale an even 200 against Braddock. He came in at 193 against Schmeling, at 201 against Bob Pastor last winter, and weighed as much as 205 against Nalle Brown in his last start in Kansas City, when a head cold made it an even greater effort for him to work.

Just how good is Joe Louis? Well, Jim Braddock is tackling a devastating dealer, but the true worth of the Dark Destroyer remains a debatable as was that of the chameleonic Jack Sharkey.

STANFORD GRIDDERS OFF FOR OIL FIELDS
PALO ALTO, June 15.—Everything's going to be "oil" right for Stanford gridders this summer. Most of them will be in the Southern California oil fields, taming the black gold and earning a few kopecks for distribution during next school session.

Jack Clark and Bob Matthews will be at Long Beach, Jack Walton, Lou Tsoutsavas and Tony Calvelli at Ventura, Bill Paulman at Oxford, and Joe Vigna at Bakersfield.

Grant Stone, All-Coast end, will go to Catalina Island, and he says he isn't going to do a lick of work. Stan Anderson goes home to Vancouver, where a job awaits him. Leo Furko says he has a place lined up at the Baden dog works. Jimmy Coffie will work in his uncle's bakery shop—probably tasting pies and cakes. Pete Fay will toil in a local furniture store. Irv Cummings and Jim Groves will be at Carlsbad, where Cummings' father has a ranch. The boys will pick lemons all summer. Hank Luisetti goes to Catalina boys' camp to be a counsellor, as does Tony Rasmussen. Pete Zagor is going to work on the Stanford golf course. Trackmen competing in the N.C.A.A. start immediately thereafter. J. LeRoy Burns, Osman Pixley vs. L. J. Bushard.

DON LASH TO FLY WEST FOR COAST-BIG 10 MEET IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Don Lash, America's premier mile and two-mile runner will fly here immediately after the Princeton invitational meet Saturday to compete for the Big Ten team that will meet the Pacific Coast conference track squad June 26.

The holder of the world's two-mile record at 8:58.4, passing up the N. C. A. A. championships this week at Berkeley to compete at Princeton, but will arrive here Monday, June 21, to train for the nation's first big inter-conference meet.

Word also arrived today from Coach Bill Hayward of Oregon that George Varoff, national pole vault champion, will compete.

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Michigan with 9 men heads the list of 37 entries for the Big Ten track and field team that will meet the Pacific Coast conference squad June 26 in the Coliseum here. Indiana, runner-up to Michigan for the Western conference championship, placed 7 on the team and Ohio State, third place squad in the conference meet, the same number.

Announcement of the Big Ten squad for the first big inter-conference meet in the history of track was made today by Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern University who is in charge of the team. Northwestern, incidentally, was the only one of the ten conference teams that did not place an athlete on the all-star squad.

Personnel of the Big Ten team was chosen by taking winners of the first three places in the recent conference championships. One or two reversions in the lineup may be made after the N. C. A. A. championships this week in Berkeley or in case of illness or injury to any of the men now on the squad.

Following are the Western conference entries for the dual meet championship with the coast stars: 100—Sam Stoller (Mich.), Bob Grieve (Ill.), Bob Collier (Ind.), 220—Collier (Ind.), Fred Elliott (Ind.), Bob Lewis (Ohio), 440—

HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN OPENS WITH WHITTIER

Annual barometer of Saint football, the Santa Ana-Orange high school game was removed from the 1937 schedule today.

The teams will not meet at all this year, according to Coach W. W. (Bill) Foote of Santa Ana who announced he had completed arrangements for Whittier to open the season here Friday afternoon, September 24.

It will be the first time since 1928 that Saints and Panthers have failed to begin their campaigns against each other, and temporarily ends an inter-city rivalry that grew up in the pumpkin-rolling days of 1897 when such "boys" as W. B. Williams, Terry Stephenson and Willard Smith saw action on the eleven.

Coach Foote explained that Santa Ana's inability to assure Orange of a night game necessitated the termination of relations. He said that Orange was desirous of a nocturnal contest for financial reasons, and did not care to meet the Saints in the daytime. Foote said he hoped the contest could be resumed in 1938.

"Little Big Game" between Santa Ana and Fullerton had been set definitely for Armistice Day at Fullerton, where the Orange County Celebration will be held November 11. The schools have "gotten together" with Legion officials on the financial division.

The Whittier engagement completes Santa Ana's schedule. It follows:

Sept. 24—Whittier at Santa Ana.
Oct. 2—Santa Ana at Long Beach.
Oct. 7—Huntington Beach at Santa Ana.
Oct. 15—Chaffey at Santa Ana.
Oct. 22—Santa Ana at Redlands.
Oct. 29—Riverside at Santa Ana.
Nov. 5—Santa Ana at Pomona.
Nov. 11—Santa Ana at Fullerton.
Nov. 19—Santa Ana at San Bernardino.

Steinke. "Was der any beer in der tonight?"

"Not tonight," said Matchmaker Clifton with just a touch of remorse. He's been on the wagon more than a year.

Outside you could hear the fan-busting down the aisles, bound for home.

The door opened. Wrestler Herman wanted to know who was paying off. Wrestler Underhill shook hands. "See you in three or four weeks," he said. "Headin' north."

Dr. Lawrence Cameron came in. "Who won?" asked Heffron.

"The doctor," grinned Club Physican Cameron.

"I had it figured for an hour draw," I suggested, but nobody laughed, and I felt like a heel when I said goodbye and shook hands with Wilson.

HOLD SUSPECT IN MATTSON KIDNAPING

QUITMAN, Tex., June 15.—(UP)—The federal bureau of identification awaited word from Tacoma, Wash., today to complete its examination of a French ex-sailor with the kidnap slaying of 10-year-old Charles Mattson.

Pictures were made of the man held for questioning, and were sent for inspection by the playmates who saw the boy taken from his home by a swarthy, bearded man.

The man gave his name as Pierre Duffau and said that he had left a French ship at Philadelphia. He was held for immigration authorities.

YOUNG BASQUE WAR REFUGEES GIVE THANKS

The routine of the thousands of Basque children in the North Stoneham refugee camp near Southampton, Eng., where they were brought to spare them the rigors and dangers of the Bilbao siege, is kept as much as possible like it would be at home. The white, conical tents in which they live providing a strange background for religious services, the children kneel in the sunshine while priests who accompanied them from the homeland conduct mass and give thanks for their charges' safety.

General Hugh S. Johnson

NEW YORK CITY—This column has remarked that in the combination of all recent proposed legislation, there is a strong indication of a clear intent never yet expressed, completely to change our form of government.

They spell out a "death sentence" for the states. They suggest a degradation of the judiciary. They propose a remaking of the great regulatory commissions from quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial to clearly executive. They more than hint a transformation of Congress from an independent legislature to a "sounding and signing" board. The former power of courts, Congress, commissions and states all go to a federal governor upon whose authority there is no check this side of God and from whose decrees there is no appeal on earth.

This seems clear upon the slightest analysis and yet it is so obscured by the furtive manner of its presentation that the country does not realize it even dimly. If it did, there would be a howl of rage that would awaken the dead patriarchs. There was no mandate for anything like this in the last election because there was no faint suggestion of anything like it. It was not known even in Washington to more than a few among whom, I sincerely believe, was not the President.

Columnist Jay Franklin is as well informed as any writer about the machinations of the new palace intelligentsia. He writes in advice to the college graduates of 1937:

"...Roosevelt has stopped playing tidily-wink and is sitting behind aces back to back in the biggest jackpot in our political history. The Old Order is beginning to crack... Men like Tom Corcoran, Ben Cohen and Bob Jackson are already showing what a few good young lawyers can do with the American Government. I care not who may pass my country's laws so long as I may draft them! is a pretty good slogan."

Just read those last two sentences over again—"what a few good young lawyers can do with the American Government" regardless of Congress if they can only draft the laws. Of course people who draft laws

Shortly before officers had escorted a truckload of food into the besieged plant.

Ella Boole Lauds Hitler as Dry

Dropping her gavel with a bang, Dr. Ella A. Boole, world president, is pictured here as she opened the international convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Boole mentioned in her opening speech that Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, never uses alcoholic liquors in any form.

for Congress are only making suggestions. The drafts can become laws regardless of Congress only if Congress is bull-dozed or deceived by adroit wording. Mr. Franklin is perfectly accurate in his statement of fact and perfectly correct in his conclusions, except that slicker drafting alone is not enough, though it is a lot. It is also necessary to fenagle a "must" order to force this tricky drafting through a thoroughly bluffed legislature.

What the Hell's going on here anyway? Slipping a revolution over on the people, the Congress and, as I believe, the President himself, by the adroit use of silence and sickness. This column aroused some protest by calling it Machiavellian—well listen to old Mac himself and see how it fits. From Chapter 16, of Machiavelli's book, "The Prince": "The experience of our times shows those princes to have done great things who had little regard for good faith and have been able by astuteness to confuse men's brains and who have ultimately overcome those who have made loyalty their foundation. ... a prudent ruler ought not to keep faith when by so doing it would be against his interests, and when the reasons which made him bind himself no longer exist... men are so simple and so ready to obey present necessities, that one who deceives will always find those who allow themselves to be deceived... "Everybody sees what you appear to be, few see what you are, and those few will not dare to oppose themselves to the many who have the majesty of the state to defend them; and in the actions of men, and especially of princes, from which there is no appeal, the end justifies the means."

Viva Fickas
Is Bride At Pretty Rites

Wedding vows were exchanged last night by Miss Viva Fickas, daughter of Irvin F. Fickas, 515 West Edinger street and Forbes S. Freeman, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Freeman, 1418 Durant street, who were bride and bridegroom at a pretty ceremony in the patio of Santa Ana Wedding chapel.

The Rev. Earl C. Bloss read the service at 8:30 o'clock, in the presence of relatives and a little group of close friends of the couple. The charming garden setting was complete with quantities of flowers and ferns.

Miss Fickas wore a beige suit with luggage tan accessories and corsage bouquet of violets. Mrs. Lee Hamilton (Doris Hunt) matron of honor, wore a beige suit with corsage cluster of carnations. J. D. Parsons was best man.

The bride's mother, Mrs. W. W. Denson of Long Beach wore navy blue and white; and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Freeman were in printed silk, both with corsage bouquets of gardenias.

Present for the wedding in addition to Mrs. Denson, Dr. and Mrs. Freeman and Mr. Fickas were Mrs. Hamilton, J. D. Parsons; the bride's brother, Melvin Eugene Fickas; the bridegroom's uncle, Norman Hoyle.

The group attended a reception in the Freeman home, where decorations were in yellow and white. Mrs. Robert Angell Jr. of Long Beach assisted in serving wedding cake and other dainties.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Freeman left for a honeymoon trip north, planning to return to Santa Ana to establish their home. The bridegroom, who is employed with Shell Service at Seventeenth and Main streets, attended Santa Ana Junior college. He is a graduate of Black Fox Military Institute. The bride is a graduate of Santa Ana high school, and is a member of Sigma Beta Chi sorority.

Industrial Situation
Is Serious
Problem, Says Speaker

Referring to the industrial situation in the United States as a serious problem which has been sidestepped by President Roosevelt and by Congress as well, Mrs. Jack Valley yesterday surveyed conditions on the home field as a climax to a series of Ebell society talks on international affairs. The program was given in Ebell clubhouse.

The speaker touched briefly on condition in Europe, expressing the belief that the problem of sit-down strikes should be of as much concern to Americans as is the menace of war-clouds to Europe. She quoted various statistics in her views that the industrial situation must be reckoned with if respect for law and order is to be maintained in America.

Big Business
"Organized labor in America today is big business," Mrs. Valley continued, pointing out that the well-dressed University graduate receiving a big salary has taken the place of the old-time labor leader who was "just a working man."

Comparing events of the day to a drama unfolding little by little, Mrs. Valley said that rehearsals have just begun on a new drama—a great industrial conflict. As preparations begin for the last act, new faces are taking the field, and new actors filling the roles, she said. "There may be an original treatment of the plot, but it's the same old story over and over again," Mrs. Valley concluded.

In this train of thought, the speaker quoted William A. Brady, in his statement, "It is Louis instead of Sullivan, the quintuplets instead of the Seven Sutherland Sisters, and the Townsend Plan instead of the single tax—but for all that it looks very much the same world to me."

Showman
Brady's book "Showman" was included in the list of books reviewed yesterday by Mrs. Valley. She quoted his advice that young people look to new fields instead of sticking to the beaten paths. If they wish to be successful, she pointed out that the book is filled with reminiscences of the theatre world, as is the book "Present Indicative," an autobiography by Noel Coward. Coward attributes his success to hard work, while Rudyard Kipling, in his autobiography "Something of Myself," written shortly before his death, gives credit for much of his success to "Lady Luck," the speaker said.

Reviewing "As I Was Going Down Sackville Street" by Oliver St. John Gorkart she quoted the author in his statement that De Valera has done more harm to Ireland in 700 years. Mrs. Valley referred to the book as one of the most delightful publications of the year.

Other books reviewed were "Life and Death," Andre Malraux; "Blood on the Moon," an exciting, racy narrative by a newspaper man; "Beloved Friend" by Von Meck and Bowen, a story of Tchekowsky; "The Woodrow Wilsons," by Eleanor Wilson McAdoo, "one of the most appealing books of the year."

Novels
In the group of novels were "People on the Earth" by Edwin Corle, story of Navajo Indians; "The Dance Goes On" by Louis Golding, story of the life of a dancer in the Imperial Russian ballet; "Peace is Where the Tempets Blow" by Valentine Kataev; "Neighbor to the Sky," Gladys Hasty Carroll; "The Borgias Blade," Reyerston and Clements; "Gentleman Overboard," Herbert Clyde Lewis; "The Women," Clare Boothe.

The Mixing Bowl
By ANN MEREDITH

There is a new recipe for a frozen crab cocktail, floating around, that you might like, served as a cocktail, but I'd like served as the salad course. This is what goes into the making:

COCKTAIL

1 cup flaked crabmeat, fresh if possible
1/2 cup lemon mayonnaise
2 tablespoons plain gelatine softened in 1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup catsup
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon any steak sauce
2 egg whites beaten stiff.

SAUCE

Mayonnaise, about 1/2 cup
2 cloves of garlic, crushed for juice
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish

Prepared mustard, to suit taste
First dissolve the gelatine over hot water. Then combine it with the catsup, lemon juice, salt and steak sauce. Mix this with the mayonnaise, fold the mayonnaise into the beaten egg whites and the loosely flaked crab meat into this flavorful sauce. Chill until it is a quivery jelly, put big spoonfuls into chilled cocktail glasses, a spoonful of the sauce on top check by bowl with a thin crescent of lemon. If it is to be a salad, be sure and use only the yellow curled heart lettuce, washed and crisped to crackling coolness in the refrigerator. The sauce serves as the salad dressing of course.

As a cocktail, what could be more enticing than this chilly bit of goodness? With crisp hot corn sticks, bran muffins, and crunchy crescent rolls, coffee, and berries, wouldn't this be a perfect menu for a party luncheon served on the shady porch?

Co-Ed Wife

By EUGENIA MACKERNAN

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CORAL CRANDALL, heroine and senior at Elton College.
DAVID ARMSTRONG, Elton chemistry professor and Coral's husband.
DONNA ALLEN, Coral's sorority roommate.
HOYT MARQUIS, Coral's one-time fiance.

Yesterday David is honored for his distinguished work in chemistry and Donna threatens Coral in an effort to learn the secret formula David has evolved.

CHAPTER VI

DONNA and Coral were sitting on the front steps of the sorority house waiting for Hoyt. "It's very swell of you to take Hoyt in charge for me this afternoon, Donna," Coral said. "Whatever made me promise to help on the decorating committee when Emmy Lou got sick at the last minute, I wouldn't guess. Force of habit, I guess."

Donna smiled scornfully. "Are you sure it isn't just your love for being in the public eye via committees and such that makes you take on extra work so readily? You didn't have to help out you know. If they had scoured the campus carefully they might possibly have found someone else to take Emmy Lou's place, though of course there's only one expert like yourself. Don't thank me for dragging your boy friend around this afternoon. He's cute, and the pleasure is mine. I'm going to take him away from you."

Coral ignored the first part of Donna's speech, and chuckled. "Go ahead. You're welcome to him."

"Coral, why on earth did you ask Hoyt Marquis to the prom?" Donna asked curiously. "I should think your lord and master, the prominent young scientist, would have been your escort."

Coral flushed. She wouldn't tell Donna why David was not taking her to the prom. She wouldn't. It was none of her business. "Oh, it was just one of those things," she said casually. "You know. It seemed like a good idea at the time, and all that."

DONNA grinned maliciously. "Oh, sure. I don't suppose your little lover's quarrel with David had anything to do with it. Of course not. Not much!"

"I haven't quarreled with David. . . that is, it's nothing serious. We just. . . well, really, Donna, I don't see that it's any of your business in the first place."

"Don't be silly, Coral," Donna said. "I was only teasing you. I know that David must be awfully busy with his work in the lab."

these days. . . probably hasn't time to go around much. And speaking of the lab and your conquering hero, he hasn't told you any more about that process he and Maxwell and Bendorff discovered, has he?"

"Truly, Donna, I don't know one single thing about that process that you don't. I haven't talked to David about it and I have no intention of trying to find out the details until they're made public. If I knew," she added pointedly, "I might forget and tell someone, which would simply ruin everything they have done in the lab."

Donna pouted babyishly. "Oh, Coral, don't be so cross. I just asked you if you had heard anything more about the process. Nothing for you to get all excited about."

"But, Donna, why are you so interested in it? You snapped my head off the other day when I couldn't tell you anything about it?"

"Of course, I'm interested," Donna's voice was sweetly indignant. "Everybody thinks that because I don't look studious, I'm not. But when I get interested in something I want to work at it, really. If I knew about this process I could. . . well. . . maybe Bendorff and Maxwell and your David would let me help them in the lab. Finish up these little details you keep talking about."

CORAL eyed Donna narrowly. "You're not fooling me," she said to herself. "I don't know what you're trying to find out, or why, but you won't learn anything from me." Then she spoke aloud. "To be perfectly frank with you, Donna, I think you're curious about that process for a deeper reason than sheer love of science. Or maybe I'm misjudging you. Anyway, I don't know a thing about it, and to go further, I wouldn't tell you if I did."

As Donna started to speak she interrupted her. "Don't be angry, please don't! I'd feel the same way toward anyone else. As I told you the other day, I wouldn't dream of telling without the permission of the men who made the discovery, and since I don't know. . . well. . . it's just silly to discuss it. You'll know as soon as I will. . . and that's when the process is made open to everyone."

"But it'll be too late, then!" Donna burst out. "What do you mean?" Coral asked her, startled by the outburst.

But Donna did not answer her question. "Oh, nothing! Forget it. Unless my eyes deceive me, Hoyt is coming up the walk. Ho, there!" Her voice had lost the sharp tone of a moment before, and was again sweet and childish.

"Hello, yourself!" Hoyt replied as he sat down on the steps beside them. "Coral, is it true that you're turning me over to your beautiful roommate this afternoon?"

Coral smiled. "It is, indeed. I promised to help decorate for the dance tonight when one of the other girls got sick. So Donna is going to show you the sights of Elton campus while I make the gym beautiful for your entertainment tonight."

Hoyt looked approvingly at Donna. "If you can take it, it would be a pleasure."

Donna was all sweetness and friendliness. "I've been counting on it all day. Though I won't be as good a guide as Coral, I'm afraid."

THEY started down the walk and across the campus together.

Coral grinned. It would be funny if Donna and Hoyt took a great liking to each other. As a matter of fact, it would be a good thing for all three of them. "She's really much more his type than I am," she thought. She spoke to Hoyt. "What did you want to see this afternoon, Hoyt? Was there any place in particular you wanted to be shown?"

He laughed and looked down at Donna. "Any place but the lab," he said. "I'm not a chemistry hound, like Coral. I was always bored and baffled by the stuff. Ever since I flunked it in college, I've been scared by the very sight of a test tube. The library, the stadium, the art school. . . they are fine and I'd love to see 'em, but keep me out of the chemistry building."

They had reached the corner of the campus where Coral must turn to go down the street to the gym. "I'll leave you here," she said. "What time shall I meet you, Hoyt?"

"I'll call for you about seven and we'll get dinner some place, then go on to the prom. Okay?" "Okay," she replied. "Have a good time, children!" She started down the street, but something made her turn around just in time to see Donna leading Hoyt into the chemistry building. "That was the one place he did not want to go," she thought. "How queer he should suddenly change his mind."

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

CHEESE, PIPE AND RARE WINDOWS

GOUDA may be famous to some for the peculiar cheese that comes from this district in Holland. To others the name may recall the thin, long-stemmed clay pipes familiarly known as "church warden's." But to art lovers, this suburb of Rotterdam is remembered as the spot where one of the few collections of fine painted glass windows still exists. Jans Kerk, or the Church of St. John, in Gouda is famous for these windows. Founded in 1485, it was rebuilt after a fire in 1552. Then, between 1560 and 1603, two brothers, Dirk and Wouter Crabeth, set up the glass from contributions of various cities and wealthy persons in Holland. Most rise to a height of about 30 feet; two are almost twice as high.

When a storm in 1666 destroyed one of these windows, it was replaced by another, and comparison of the new with the older glass reveals the remarkable talent of the Crabeth brothers. These windows were the subject of a series of two stamps which the Netherlands issued in 1931 to raise funds for their restoration. One is shown here.

Improvement of Highway Near Newport Planned

NEWPORT BEACH, June 15.—Two major highway improvements, to cost a total of over $7,000, will get underway in west Newport Beach in the near future, according to reports coming from the county supervisors office and the office of the state highway department.

The southwest ramp of the Arches overhead crossing will be widened and reallocated so that traffic coming down the sector will be able to make the turn toward San Diego more safely. The cost, estimated at $5,000, will be borne by the county, the city and the state.

The other improvement will be the widening and improvement of the west entrance to the city at the Beacon service station, according to an agreement between the county supervisors and the state highway department. The cost, estimated at $2,240, it was estimated.

Clear Code 'Mid Slinging Strikes Hollywood As Producers Ban Dirt

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MICROPHONE

The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here—

Hollywood, June 15.—Those who have followed the friendly voice of Jim Carroll the past month are in for disappointment tonight. The popular writer of "Jimcrax" is no longer at KFAC.

Because his daily column is carried in a good many of the suburban newspapers skirting Los Angeles, Jim justly and rightfully refused a sponsorship that would be asking his reader-listeners to pass by the hometown dealers to shop in Los Angeles.

KFAC, failing to understand such a legitimate stand and lacking the foresight to go out and get him a sponsor who sold his product in all localities, gave Carroll notice that henceforth his services were no longer desired. Thereby not only losing a saleable program but a well sustaining show as well.

But you haven't heard the last of Jim Carroll. There are other stations which will be glad to air his philosophy. And, unless I'm doomed to lose faith in radio executives in general, a few who will exercise a little common sense in selling him.

Program notes: Skoonagie & Budd, together with the mighty gas pipe organ played by the Colonel himself, break into their vacation long enough to visit the Old Maestro. (KFAC, 5).

Joe Penner joins Jack Oakie in "Play of the Month" starts a new mystery drama written by Frank Easton and Don Gallagher. (KPWB, 8).

Jim Thorpe, one of the greatest athletes of all time, will relate his most exciting incident in a career packed with thrills. (KFPL, 9).

Pleasant moves to Thursday with the enlightening Art of Conversation filling in the Tuesday vacancy. (KNX, 10-15).

Don Lee has a new one called "The Royal Troubadours." The half-hour will have Frederick Stark's orchestra, Luther King, Negro tenor, and the Walter Schumann Chorus. (KFAC, 11-15).

With his dramatic efforts meeting with high favor, Al Jolson will feature the radio premiere of the "Black Station," a sketch based upon an incident in the life of Leopold Yuba. (KNX, 15).

Virginia Verrill, who is back in town for picture work, starts a new commercial series with Lud Gluskin's orchestra. Others in the cast are Clark Ross and the Three Hits & Misses. (KNX, 8-15).

The popularity of some of our daytime features never ceases to amaze me. And sponsors, too, I guess, because the morning and afternoon hours have continued to sell at a rapid pace during the past two years. Before they were taboo.

Let Betty & Bob, Eddie Albright, Myrt & Marge, Mary Marlin, or any of the other dozen or so daylights favorites change time or miss a broadcast, this phone of mine sets up a merry jingle.

An excellent example of their long life and popularity will be duly noted tomorrow morning when "Ma Perkins" celebrates its 1000th broadcast. (KFPL, 11-15).

The program was first heard over WLW, Cincinnati, in August, 1933. After four months as a one-station program, the show moved to Chicago for an introduction to NBC and its present sponsor.

Star stuff: Jack Benny's effort Sunday was his best to date. The summer Texaco show doesn't appeal to these ears. . . . Despite the oft-repeated dictum that radio fame is fleeting, listeners are loyal to some favorites. Graham McNamee, Vaughn & Leath, Amos 'n' Andy, Rudy Vallee, May Singli Breen, Peter de Rose and Bill Hatch are a few who date back to the days of crystal sets and tin-can mikes.

Jack Benny has carefully stowed away in a safety deposit vault a copy of every script he has done on the air. . . . Trudy Wood, featured soloist with Johnny Green's orchestra, is a native of San Francisco.

Leslie Tremayne, new leading man on First Nighter: Is the son of Dolly Tremayne, English cinema star who reigned before and during the World War. Father was a professional singer. Coast-to-coasters first know him as the leading man of Grand Hotel.

Jack Pearl is said to have the world's largest assortment of good-luck charms. Is never without one. . . . Fibber (Jim Jordan) McGee is another superstitious radio star. Gets panicky if he drops a comb while dressing.

Jan Pearce, tenor, sold newspapers in the Wall Street district when a youngster. . . . Midge Williams, with an excellent supporting cast. The thrillingly dramatic romance of the story is heightened by the fact that the scenes—al-

REMOTE CONTROL GRADUATION

Two seniors in Orange Union High School are going to graduate with their classmates, despite the fact they are confined in hospitals.

The boys, Ralph Carnes, recently injured in an automobile accident and Thomas Powell, who underwent a major operation last week, will graduate by remote control.

M. M. Fishback, boys' principal at Orange High School, has made arrangements to broadcast the graduation exercises by short wave to the two bed-ridden seniors. Hospital attaches have entered into the spirit and are co-operating with the school officials.

Thus through the medium of science these two graduates will be closely linked with their more fortunate classmates. Only the material contact will be missing.

"CONFESSED FREELY"

The convicting by secret trial of eighteen of the high officials in Russia to be shot, gives us a little idea of the democracy that Stalin talks about.

It is hard to conceive how any court in Russia would dare set free these men accused of treason. If they did, they themselves would be executed for treason.

The statement that these men "confessed freely" to being guilty does not seem reasonable to thinking people. It is hard to conceive how these men would confess. Their only reason for confession is that they were promised immunity for their families. There was no reason in the world why they would confess otherwise and be sure of death.

It has been only a few weeks since others were accused and shot as being in a conspiracy with Trotsky. Now it is supposed to be with some other country. It is evident that people in Russia are not as well satisfied with their condition as those who would centralize government control here would make us believe.

RED CROSS STATIONS

One of the least heard of and perhaps most important functions of the Santa Ana Red Cross chapter is the first aid stations that have been installed.

To date there are six stations in this area. One is at Irvine park and the other five are located at strategic points in the county. The stations are stocked with first aid equipment.

At each of these stations are attendants who have volunteered their service free of charge to the Red Cross. The attendants also have passed the necessary first aid requirements.

The work carried on by these attendants seldom reaches the press, but many times suffering and pain have been alleviated and in some cases death has been cheated. Records in the local chapter headquarters contain proof of at least three cases where first aid, from one of these Red Cross stations, meant the saving of a life.

It would be beneficial to all if everyone familiarized himself with the location of these six stations so that in time of emergency advantage might be taken of the services rendered.

Plans are being made for the installation of more of these stations in Orange county.

So long as we have accidents we must be prepared to give relief to the victims as quickly as possible.

SUBURBAN CONSTRUCTION

Home construction is moving toward the "open spaces" of expanding cities, where suburban developments are springing from the re-creation of American community life.

A leading architect in Los Angeles says of suburban development: "modern building is expanding on a horizontal basis rather than on a vertical one, with an exodus from crowded city zones inevitable."

That this is true is seen in the number of persons in Santa Ana who commute daily to Los Angeles. A great majority of these commuters own homes or property in Orange County. They have purchased property here or erected homes because they like the suburban life.

Americans have become outdoor enthusiasts, garden lovers, yearning to get away from attached houses in congested areas, and acquire space in which to grow and relax.

There is a growing discrimination among builders. They want yards, trees, flowers, hedges, the color and scent of the earth. Far greater is the desire for sun, comfort, light, health, housing strength and durability.

Increased highway construction has opened up vast areas bordering large cities. Secondary roads, spoking from arterial highways, permit subdivision development conditions guaranteeing seclusion and freedom from noise and heavy traffic flow.

Santa Ana and Orange County have everything to offer these home builders who want to get away from congested areas.

When Socrates was building himself a house at Athens, being asked by one that observed the littleness of the design why a man so eminent would not have an abode more suitable to his dignity, he replied that he should think himself sufficiently accommodated if he could see that narrow habitation filled with real friends.

—Samuel Johnson.

Better Jobs For All

—By R. C. HOILES

Beginning at the Top

News dispatches carry the story that President Roosevelt has deducted the losses of his estate from his income thereby reducing his tax.

If the President's Hyde Park home is really run as a money making proposition, instead of as an establishment to entertain, amuse and have a place to live, it legally would be deductible.

To permit rich men to have large, comfortable, luxurious estates and keep a lot of servants waiting on them and have a few acres that they farm and claim this is business enterprise, is a clever way of beating the income tax.

It is a very difficult thing for the Revenue agents to determine whether a big estate, farming a few acres, is really a business or a home. If a home, of course, it is not deductible; if a business, it is.

We should tax, without a doubt, the expenditures on large homes whether they be on a piece of land with a few acres under cultivation, claimed to be business, or whether they were operated without any apparent business connection.

If we had a graduated tax on consumption, instead of a graduated tax on income, this could be very easily worked out. The cost of the domicile and its upkeep and the interest on the investment would be regarded as consumption and the bigger the home and the more servants, the higher the rate should be.

It would seem to us that deducting the expenses of a large domicile on a small farm used to make a very comfortable home is just about as much of an evasion of taxation as to incorporate a yacht and claim it is business.

Consistency, thou art a jewel!

Challenging This Column

The readers of this column may be helpful to others and to the writer of this column by challenging any inconsistencies in the column. If the column is inconsistent in any of the principles it advocates, we would greatly appreciate having these inconsistencies pointed out.

We believe in consistency and the man who isn't consistent in his philosophy has no philosophy. A man who is not consistent in his plan, has no plan. He has chaos.

So, any time a reader will point out on inconsistency he will greatly help the writer correct the theories for better jobs that is being presented in this column.

Again, if the readers will point out those statements which they do not understand, it will challenge the writer of the column to attempt to make them clearer so that others may understand. The column is not worth the space it takes unless it helps do what the heading calls for, make jobs for all, and it cannot do much to help bring this about unless it brings about a better understanding of the kind of government that makes possible private initiative and more production and, therefore, higher real wages and better jobs for all.

Every reader is invited to challenge any inconsistencies, either privately or for publication, appearing in this column or statements that are not clear. You will thus be rendering a service not only to yourself but to your fellow man.

Football Championship

vs.

Job Championship

A news report states that Cal Tech won few football games during the past season but won the mythical job championship of the United States by obtaining coveted positions in business and industry for virtually every member of its graduating class. There were 250 graduates from the institution.

Cal Tech is not a college that people go to as they would attend a country club. It is not a fun and pleasure-loving institution, as so many of our colleges have come to be. Parents do not send their sons to Cal Tech so that they can point with pride to their diploma and say that they have mastered Latin and Greek. They rather send their sons to Cal Tech that they may unlock the laws of nature and learn to use the forces of nature for the benefits of mankind.

It is no wonder that the graduates from this school are able to get jobs. The world needs men who can help enterprise in harnessing the forces of nature so that we may all have better jobs.

The senses collect the surface facts of matter. . . . It was sensation; when memory came, it was experience; when mind acted, it was knowledge; when mind acted on it as knowledge, it was thought.

—Emerson.

What Other Editors Say:

DUE PROCESS

From Oakland Tribune

With the Supreme Court in recess, and with public sentiment veering against schemes to reorganize the court, attention should be directed at one of the palpable misunderstandings created by the administration's propaganda for a change. The misconception revolves around the significance of the two due process clauses in the Constitution, which are now involved in about as many suits to test the constitutionality of legislation as all the other clauses of the Constitution put together.

The clauses represent "the most important guarantee of civil liberty known to American constitutional law," as S. P. Orth and R. E. Cushman point out in American National Government, instead of a barbed obstacle to New Deal "progress."

True, the phrase is nowhere defined, but it is broadly equivalent to the "law of the land" and the English "rule of law." Until the latter part of the last century, the Supreme Court construed due process as pertaining to procedural matters, which meant that an accused person must be given a fair trial before a proper court. Thus, it was a weapon against arbitrary and unfair judicial procedure.

When the rule was directed toward substantive rights, it came into its own and provided a guarantee against arbitrary and unfair governmental action of all kinds, whether by Congress or by administrators. Under the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, the court restrained confiscatory laws of the States which they enacted under an unduly broad conception of the police power. The Fifth Amendment restrains the Federal Government in the same terms, i. e., forbids any person to be deprived of life, liberty or property "without due process of law."

Dissatisfaction of particular pressure groups with the way the Court has interpreted "reasonable" in connection with economic and industrial legislation has led to irresponsible demands for reform and to two of the due process clauses and liberty of permissible attempts to misconstrue the vital relation between property and property. Contraries over the Court's due process decisions are not new; they occurred in connection with the Dred Scott case in 1857, the income tax decision in 1895, and the child labor decisions in 1918 and 1922.

Extremists have contended that the national judiciary has "usurped" the power to nullify laws. However, the authority to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional, as first asserted in Maybury vs. Madison in 1803, remains a bulwark of personal and property rights against legislative and executive encroachment. The power of the Court is easily exaggerated in the heat of controversy, but the fact remains that, during its nearly 150 years of existence, the Court has rendered only about 60 decisions nullifying congressional acts. In only about 12 of these cases has criticism been voiced.

Register Clearing House

(The articles under the Clearing House are published for the purpose of an exchange of ideas and are not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.)

Editor Register: I read with interest the tempest which has arisen over the Bible. It is good to know that the scientific attitude, toward the supposedly infallible and verbally inspired Book, has taken root in the community, which has boasted of being in the "Bible Belt."

It is amusing to witness the vain scramble for proof texts, gathered from the Scriptures, to substantiate an argument. They forget the fact, because a statement is found in the Bible, it does not prove the statement to be true. In many cases, it is wiser to question its truthfulness. The many mistakes, interpolations, re-editing of details, do not guarantee the information contained in the sacred literature to be absolutely trustworthy.

It is an arresting fact to realize, no lasting civilization can be founded on the Bible. The Jew has not attained his goal in 4000 years. Christianity has fallen short after 2000 years. The social and economic ideals of the Jewish writers will not work, because they are impossible, oppressive, and false.

see a great change in world affairs. It is imperative we disregard the accredited religious fetish of Christendom. We must dare to set aside the dogma of Biblical finality.

The world will not be redeemed by a divine intervention, nor by the fulfillment of a prophetic program of cataclysm, nor by the second coming of Christ. The central truth in the idealism of Jesus was the Law of Compensation—not the cross. The cross was a mere incident, certainly not a human sacrifice for sin. We obtain reconciliation, by first being reconciled to our brothers. We are granted forgiveness, because we forgive those who sin against us. There is no salvation by proxy.

The condition of heaven on earth, Utopia, could be realized if we practiced the Golden Rule, and the Sermon on the Mount. But if we continue to go down the broad road of orthodoxy, with its intolerance and bigotry, we will end in social disaster. We need to begin all over again to lay the foundations of civilization, before it is too late. This time, we ought to accept the philosophy of Jesus—not the Bible and traditionalism.

Little Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

This morning ma left her diamond ring on the washstand again and pop saw it while he was shaving his face and I was brushing my hair, pop saying, By golly if this diamond ring doesn't get lost beyond recall it won't be your mother's fault.

And he put it in his vest pocket, saying, I'll see that it's safe for at least one day at least.

And he went downtown without saying anything to ma about the ring, and tonight after supper he was reading the paper, saying to ma, The market is lower and unemployment is higher. Well, at least we've got a good roof over our heads and some serviceable carpet under our feet. And if it had come to worst we could always dispose profitably of certain little luxuries whose value is so unchanging that they might really be regarded as sound investments.

Now for instance your diamond ring, he said.

Now Willyum, why do you bring that up just at this particular time, I mean why do you particularly mention my diamond ring? ma said, and pop said, Well, what could be more natural? A good diamond can always be converted back into money. Why, why do you ask why I ask? he said.

Because I've wasted all my spare time since this morning trying to think up new places to look, and you've got it, ma said, and pop said, Look for what, got what my deer? You tawk in riddles, he said.

If you don't want to see me tawk in herled sofa cushions you'd better produce it and produce it quickly, ma said, and pop said, O, maybe you mean this?

And he took ma's diamond ring out of his vest pocket, making her seem even madder instead of gladder, and pop had to take her rite out to a movie in self defense. (Protected, 1937, by George Matthews Adams Service)

YOUTH'S SORROWS

Youth's sorrows are real. To be left waiting for the invitation to the dance that does not come; to be ignored at the party; to feel clumsy of body and dull of mind; to come to consider oneself a nit-wit beside the youth who is the life of the party; to want the very right suit or the latest hat and know it is forever beyond one—these are sorrows that go deep into the hearts of boys and girls in their teens. Grown people smile at them. Long ago they have forgotten the pain they suffered for these very things. Age takes Youth's sorrows lightly.

To be sure Age knows that all this will pass. They are the experiences of Youth the world over since Cain and Abel. But Youth knows only the pain of today and it is very real. And hope long deferred as long as the day after tomorrow, might just as well not trouble itself about the matter. What are parents to do about it?

It is not possible to save children pain and sorrow as they grow toward maturity. The best we can hope to do is to point out cheerfully that we and the neighbors and the neighbor's children suffer alike. Youth always feels its troubles to be unique, and if one can very cheerfully explain that we are all in the same boat it helps. Misery does love company.

Not that perhaps so much as that young people like to feel themselves of the crowd, even if it is trouble that makes them kin. It is this very feeling that prompts the heartache of the unhappy child in the first place. John can use the car whenever he wants to. Marianne wears spike heels to

GOING FISHIN'

WASHINGTON, June 15—With drawl of Vice-President Garner from the Washington scene was variously portrayed as a society departure, a vacation trip and a dust bowl excursion.

It was really the last retreat of conservatism from the court of the new order.

The truth is this: the vice-president was the president's legislative leader. Garner, more than anyone else, handled the business end of getting legislation through. And he handled it well, even to including the supreme court packing plan. But two matters developed upon which he was in strong conscientious disagreement with the policy followed by the White House. One is the sit-down strike. The other is economy, government spending, balancing the budget, or whatever you choose to call it.

Mr. Garner is a forthright kind of man who says what he thinks, even when it is something his boss may not like to hear. No hard words were spoken. No strong action was taken, but a friendly misunderstanding developed. There was nothing left for the vice-president to do except to go fishing.

And, unless the moon outshines the sun, and stars fall on Texas, Mr. Garner will keep on fishing until specifically recalled to Washington by the president for a specific purpose.

The president recommended a $160,000,000 merchant marine program. The president made no fight to prevent the senate from adding funds to start the $116,000,000 TVA Gilbertsville (Ky.) dam.

More funds for flood control were denied by the white house originally, but Mr. R. finally accepted a compromise to spend $45,000,000 of WPA money on flood control.

Agriculture Secretary Wallace presented a farm program, estimated to cost anywhere from $280,000,000 to $700,000,000 with some estimates running above a billion. (While F.D.R. said he favored some farm legislation, apparently he is not for the whole Wallace program.)

The president has announced himself for small Wagner housing and farm tenancy legislation, neither of which is in the budget.

The fact of this matter seems to be that the economy movement was concerted largely for effect on the government bond market, just for the duration of that recent spring uneasiness.
